ENDORSE STATE CANDIDATES
Pierre, S. D., Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Presidential standard bearers and candidates for state offices were endorsed by Republicans, Democrats and Farmer-Laborites of South Dakota at their respective proposal conventions which adjourned today.

An eleventh hour effort by a group of Farmer-Laborites to effect a fusion with Democrats after the former had bolted its regular convention came to naught along toward dawn and all parties completed selection of separate tickets.

Both the Republican and Democratic adopted platform plans for strict enforcement of the Volstead act.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(By the A. P.)—President Coolidge will acknowledge the action of the South Dakota Republican proposal convention in granting him the preference for the presidential primary and will send a communication to Republican leaders of that state which may go a long way toward indicating his attitude toward 1924.

The intention of Mr. Coolidge is to recognize publicly the South Dakota convention's endorsement was made known today at the White House, where officials made no attempt to disguise their satisfaction in the majority given the President over Hiram Johnson.

COOLIDGE ENDORSED
Pierre, S. D., Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Following endorsement by Calvin Coolidge, W. G. McAdoo and Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin as presidential standard bearers for the Republican, Democratic and Farmer-Labor parties at state proposal meetings here last night a group of proposal men from the Farmer-Labor element early today was endeavoring to make a partial fusion with the Democrats on state nomination proposals.

About 30 men out of 110 in the Farmer-Labor party denounced the national platform and bolted the convention to confer with the Democrats. According to participants the dissatisfied Farmer-Labor men will attempt to frame a joint ticket for United States Senator on down with the Democrats.

At the Democratic convention, Henry Ford was nominated by James F. Houghman of Watertown, an officer of the South Dakota Ford-for-President club.

McMaster Wins
For the senatorial endorsement at the Republican convention a bitter fight was waged between Governor William H. McMaster and Senator Thomas Sterling, incumbent. Governor McMaster won the endorsement over Mr. Sterling by a vote of 40,207 against 37,827.

The endorsement of McMaster after the selection of Coolidge came as a surprise as the Governor in announcing that he was in the senatorial race had publicly endorsed the candidacy of Hiram Johnson for the presidency and was regarded as the leader of the Johnson forces in the convention. Senator Sterling had never declared his presidential choice but he was regarded as a Coolidge advocate.

Tom Ayres, chairman of the state central committee, won the senatorial endorsement at the Farmer-Labor convention by a large majority over Mark Bates, former leader in the Nonpartisan League.

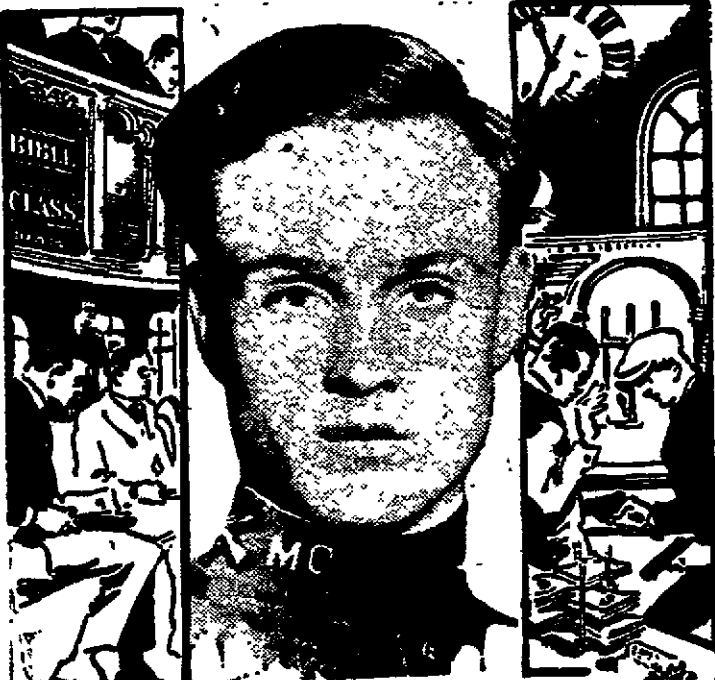

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas characterized as "a big brother" to the farmers who should make an excellent running mate for our esteemed executive" was unanimously endorsed for vice-president by the Republican convention. Senator Capper's name was placed before the convention by Elmer Anderson of Clark county.

The Platforms
High lights in the various platform included:—Endorsement of the National Administration, progress and economy in government, strict enforcement of the Volstead act, agricultural developments and co-operative marketing, completion of the Muscle Shoals project, a child labor amendment and conscription of money, wealth and property as well as men in the event of war.

The Democratic—Reduction of taxes, restoration of agricultural prosperity, preservation of world peace, strict enforcement of the Volstead act.

Kansas City, Kas., Dec. 5.—In Paul Burgett, here, examining psychologists are confronted with one of the most perplexing instances of dual personality on record.

Charged by police with a Jekyll-Hyde existence, the youth, according to authorities, has confessed a hidden crime career, prompted by spasmodic impulses over which he says he had no control.

From model Sunday school attendant to hold bank robber, police say, was but a modest transformation for young Burgett.

Held in a sanitarium for further investigation under a pending prison sentence, Burgett tells of the fight he waged against his evil self to depart from the primrose path and lead a life in keeping with what people who respected him thought was his.

Good folks of the community, who knew him only as a pious youth, at first discredited the tales of daylight banditry alleged by police.

And one scientist, who has made several tests, pronounces Burgett "the victim of two minds with an inability to control either of them."

Given time, though, this investigator believes that Burgett's better self, which forced him to regular church service, can drive out the criminal ego which rose to supremacy in the battle for domination of his nature.

"I wanted to go straight," the boy says. "But evil companions and the impulse for crime were too strong."

Meanwhile he is being held in jail. And unless physicians believe that a thorough reformation is possible he must go to prison for five years.

Members of the county board of commissioners were urged today by a representative of the state agricultural college to employ a county agent. Members of the board heard the argument of Mr. Jordan, of the college, but maintained opposition to employing a county agent at this time.

Bill Introduced in National Congress by Minnesotan
A bill for a congressional investigation of the proposed increase in lignite coal freight rates, which Governor Nestos has intimated was a conspiracy to wreck the industry, has been introduced in the national congress by Congressman Walter H. Newton of Minnesota, according to a telegram received here by Major Stanley Washburn, president of the North Dakota Lignite Coal Operators Association.

COOLIDGE VICTOR
Pierre, S. D., Dec. 5.—President Calvin Coolidge last night was given the majority nomination for the presidential primary by the South Dakota proposal convention, winning over Senator Hiram Johnson of California, by a vote of 50,379 to 27,340.

Massey on Trial Charged with the Murder of his Son-in-Law in 1922

Dickinson, N. D., Dec. 5 (By the A. P.)—The third day of the trial of Joseph Massey, charged with the murder of his son-in-law, Sonnes Dolliver on June 17, 1922 following an alleged altercation over family troubles, started this morning before Judge H. L. Berry in district court when attorneys for both the defense and state engaged in bitter arguments relative to the alleged death bed statements of Dolliver.

According to statements of the State Attorney, Dolliver made a statement before a number of reliable witnesses which "prove that Massey was guilty of first degree murder."

Today's hearing was a repetition of yesterday's with both sides attempting to gain the court's decision relative to the statement, the defense contending that the statement is in the form of testimony not legally permissible for use in the trial. Indications are court officials declared this noon, that the trial will get definitely under way this afternoon with a verdict expected by the end of the week.

WOULD RAISE WHEAT PRICE THROUGH TAX

Manager of American Wheat Growers Says Method to Boost it 22½ Cents

PLAN IS EXPLAINED

Tax of 7½ Cents a Bushel on Wheat to be Used For Exporting Wheat

Minneapolis, Dec. 5.—Legislation designed to raise the price of American wheat by 1-2 cents a bushel by taxing domestic wheat seven and one-half cents a bushel and adding 30 cents to the price of all wheat exported was proposed today by the American Wheat Growers Association in a letter sent to Minnesota congressman by George C. Jewett, general manager.

The proposed measure calls for the creation of a government commission which would collect a tax on all American grown wheat through railways and certified mill reports and apply the premiums on an equitable basis on flour milled in America and shipped abroad.

"This plan has no element of price-fixing in it and it will offer a direct relief to the wheat growers immediately upon being put in effect," the letter said. "No elaborate structure is needed for administration. It will operate as if a direct subsidy had been applied to American wheat based upon Liverpool prices."

The letter outlines the basic points of the measure as:

Approximately 700,000,000 bushels of wheat are produced in America for market.

The tax would yield a fund of $9,000,000 to be applied upon the exported wheat approximately 170,000,000 bushels. The premium would be 30 cents a bushel.

The enhanced export price will have to be met by those desiring to purchase domestic wheat.

The farmer in America will receive therefore 30 cents above the world price of wheat and will pay out 7 1-2 cents as tax.

The tax and premium should be revised each year to accord with the variation in the quantity of American wheat.

The present tariff must be increased from 30 to 60 cents a bushel.

St. Mary's Juvenile Band Will Give a Concert Tomorrow

The second concert of the series to be given by the boys' band of St. Mary's church will be given tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's school auditorium. The program consists of three band selections, a cornet solo by Herman Batzer, a trombone and euphonium duet by Clemens Boespflug and Herman Batzer. A trombone duet by Clemens Boespflug and Richard Horner, piano by Howard Murphy and Gertrude Murphy. An effectively worked out tableau of "Jesus Lover of My Soul" will be given by girls of St. Mary's grade school, the vocal part of the tableau being given by Miss Mary Patzman.

A large attendance is expected. The full program will be announced tomorrow. The holders of season tickets will be admitted with these tickets, other may purchase evening tickets.

Civilization? Too Wild!

By NEA Service
Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 5.—Robert Douglas Henderson is going back. He came out the other day from the peaceful wilderness and had his first look in 29 years at so-called civilization.

He is going back.

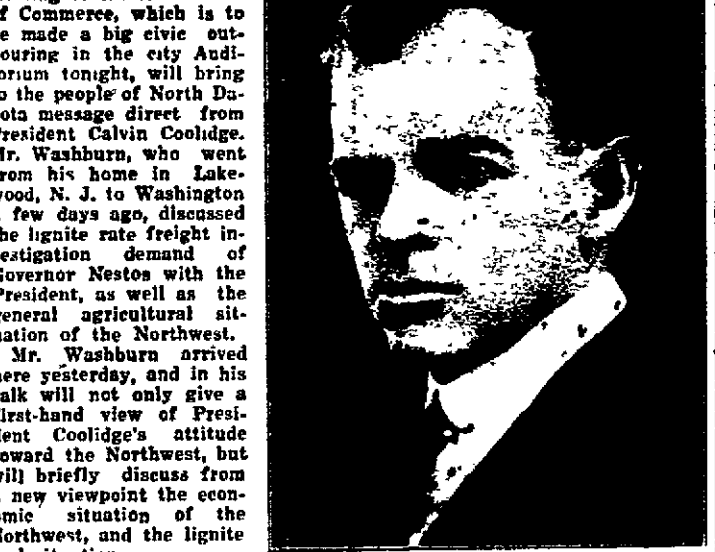

Civilization is too swift for him. Better the safe and sane life of the great gold country beyond Dawson, Yukon Territory, than the mad whirl of Vancouver, British Columbia, where he came to see what the present-day world is like. Back in the wilds a man can protect himself. He can shoot bears or wolves if they menace him, but he can't shoot automobiles when they endanger his life.

Henderson is a real old-timer of the gold trail. He went to the Klondike in 1894 after mining in Colorado. The fortunes he acquired isn't all gone yet.

MAJOR WASHBURN TO BRING PEOPLE "INSIDE VIEW" OF COOLIDGE ATTITUDE

Former War Correspondent, Who Discussed North Dakota With President, to Speak at Annual Meeting of Association of Commerce Here Tonight

Major Stanley Washburn of Lakewood, N. J., one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Association of Commerce, which is to be made a big civic outpouring in the city Auditorium tonight, will bring to the people of North Dakota a message direct from President Calvin Coolidge.

MAJOR WASHBURN

Mr. Washburn, who went from his home in Lakewood, N. J. to Washington a few days ago, discussed the lignite rate freight investigation demand of Governor Nestos with the President, as well as the general agricultural situation of the Northwest.

Mr. Washburn arrived here yesterday, and in his talk will not only give a first-hand view of President Coolidge's attitude toward the Northwest, but will briefly discuss from a new viewpoint the economic situation of the Northwest, and the lignite coal situation.

A former war correspondent, publicist and lecturer, Mr. Washburn is known as an entertaining speaker.

Former Governor L. B. Hanna and Governor Nestos will speak at the meeting.

The annual meeting will get under way promptly at 7:30 p. m., with community singing, music by the high school orchestra and the Juvenile Band saxophone quartette. There also will be musical selections during the evening. The meeting will be made a civic "pop fest" and will be entertaining as well as interesting throughout. Every citizen of the city is urged to be present, and members of the Burleigh county dairy circuit and farmers are especially invited.

MOTOR MERGER DECLARED OFF

Rep. Longworth Says Insurgents Will Have Full Hearing on Rules Changes

Washington, Dec. 5.—Representative Miller, Republican, and Buckley, Democrat, were sworn in as members of the house from Illinois today after protests had been made to their being seated.

Washington, Dec. 5.—A protest against the seating of Edward E. Miller as a Republican member of the house from the 22nd Illinois district was made today from the floor by Rep. Rainey, Democrat of Illinois, as representative-elects from that state were about to take the oath of office.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(By the A. P.)—Frederick H. Gillette of Massachusetts was re-elected speaker of the house today when the Republican insurgents voted for him for the first time since a deadlock developed Monday.

The re-election of Mr. Gillette completed organization of the 68th Congress and paved the way for President Coolidge to deliver tomorrow his first message to a joint session of the house and senate.

The insurgents decided to abandon their fight after they had been assured by Representative Longworth of Ohio, the Republican leader, that opportunity would be afforded later to freely offer amendments to the house rule. From the start the insurgent group has maintained that its real fight was for a rules revision.

The break came on the first ballot today, the ninth taken for speaker since Monday noon. From the outset the insurgents had been casting 17 votes for Cooper of Wisconsin, one of their leaders, and five for Madden of Illinois. On the final ballot Gillette received 215 votes.

Rep. Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic candidate, had 197 and two votes for Rep. Madden.

That gave Gillette a majority of seven votes.

The Democrats voted solidly for Garrett. The two who voted for Madden were James of Michigan and Reid of Illinois, both Republicans.

Rep. Kvale, Independent, Minnesota, and Weisfeld, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, who had supported Cooper, voted "present," as did Garret and Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin. Gillette did not vote. Madden voted for Gillette as he had from the first.

TO SPEAK TOMORROW
Washington, Dec. 5.—President Coolidge's annual message to Congress will be delivered at a joint session of the senate and house shortly after noon tomorrow.

Definite decision as to the time of his appearance was reached today after the White House had been in communication with the leaders at the capital.

SEEK CASES FOR JURY TRIAL

Judge James A. Coffey, presiding in district court, was making every effort today to get the civil court trials under way. Absence from the city of some attorneys, a business city of other courts made it impossible to find a jury case for trial until this afternoon.

Judge Coffey denied the petition of Theodore A. Mertins for divorce from Ida Mertins on the ground of cruelty.

NEW ASSISTANT IS APPOINTED

A. L. Butterwick of Minnawaukan has been named an assistant attorney general, filling a vacancy that has existed on the staff of Attorney-General George Shafer for sometime. The position has been filled by special assistants recently.

FORD LOSES

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 5.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, was given the Farmer-Labor presidential endorsement by a vote of 31,999 against 7,237 for Henry Ford. Tony Ayres, chairman of the state central committee, won the senatorial place by a large majority over Mark Bates, former leader in the Nonpartisan League.

RANCHER DIES

Dickinson, Dec. 5.—Rudolph Pavlicek, a well known old-time settler, residing on a farm ten miles north of this city, passed away at his home last Saturday, old age being given as the cause of his death. He was born in Bohemia 73 years ago, and had resided at his Dunn county farm for many years.

Funeral services were held in the St. Wenceslaus Catholic church on Monday and interment made in the St. Wenceslaus cemetery in this city.

Fargo, Dec. 5.—Wheat production cost investigations in the United States and Canada, are now under way by the United States tariff commission, it was announced today by Rex E. Willard, on his return from the tariff commission hearing at Washington.

The commission has begun an investigation, which will include actual field trips to farms of the northwest, and a conference was held by the commission with representatives of northwestern farmers at University farm, St. Paul, yesterday, to discuss details of the plans for the investigation.

Mr. Willard, Dr. A. H. Benton of the college; P. J. Olson of Grafton, N. D. and Ben Picha of Moorhead, were among those at the St. Paul conference. Mr. Willard also attended the preliminary hearing at Washington, last week and presented cost data on wheat production before the commission, secured from actual records of North Dakota farms.

Believing she had been kidnapped by a mafon, detectives yesterday arrested Jose B. DiCamello, a religious cult leader and former inmate of the state insane asylum and questioned him.

He denied any connection with the girl's disappearance and witnesses who saw a girl answering Rose's description in company with a man could not identify DiCamello as the man.

The second disappearance, although it occurred Sunday evening, was not reported to the police until yesterday. Mrs. Katherine Karum told officers her 20-month-old baby Stanley was taken from behind her while she was purchasing some candy for him from a push cart.

Jewett, general manager.

The proposed measure calls for the creation of a government commission which would collect a tax on all American grown wheat through railroads and certified mill reports and apply the premiums on an equitable basis on flour milled in America and shipped abroad.

"This plan has no element of price-fixing in it and it will offer a direct relief to the wheat growers immediately upon being put in effect," the letter said. "No elaborate structure is needed for administration. It will operate as if a direct subsidy had been applied to American wheat based upon Liverpool prices."

The letter outlines the basic points of the measure as:

Approximately 700,000,000 bushels approximately leave the farm in America for market.

The tax would yield a fund of $9,000,000 to be applied upon the exported wheat approximately 170,000,000 bushels. The premium would be 30 cents a bushel.

The enhanced export price will have to be met by those desiring to purchase domestic wheat.

The farmer in America will receive therefore 30 cents above the world price of wheat and will pay out 7 1/2 cents as tax.

The tax and premium should be revised each year to accord with the variation in the quantity of American wheat.

The present tariff must be increased from 30 to 60 cents a bushel.

VALLEY CITY BANK REOPENED

Valley City, N. D., Dec. 5.—Reorganization of the institution, enabled the Bank of Valley City, which was suspended a few days ago, to reopen yesterday. The bank closed Nov. 30 after officials said, a run on the bank was caused by rumors that the bank was planning to sell out.

Civilization?
Too Wild!

By NEA Service

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 5.—Robert Douglas Henderson is going back.

He came out the other day from the peaceful wilderness and had his first look in 29 years at so-called civilization.

He is going back.

Civilization is too swift for him. Better the safe and sane life of the great gold country beyond Dawson, Yukon Territory, than the mad whirl of Vancouver, British Columbia, where he came to see what the present-day world is like. Back in the wilds a man can protect himself. He can shoot bears or wolves if they menace him, but he can't shoot automobiles when they endanger his life.

Henderson is a real old-timer of the gold trail. He went to the Klondyke in 1894 after mining in Colorado. The fortune he acquired isn't all gone yet.

MAJOR WASHBURN TO BRING PEOPLE "INSIDE VIEW" OF COOLIDGE ATTITUDE

Former War Correspondent, Who Discussed North Dakota With President, to Speak at Annual Meeting of Association of Commerce Here Tonight

MAJOR WASHBURN

Major Stanley Washburn of Lakewood, N. J., one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Association of Commerce, which is to be made a big civic outpouring in the city Auditorium tonight, will bring to the people of North Dakota a message direct from President Calvin Coolidge. Mr. Washburn, who went from his home in Lakewood, N. J. to Washington a few days ago, discussed the league rate freight investigation demand of Governor Nestos with the President, as well as the general agricultural situation of the Northwest.

Mr. Washburn arrived here yesterday, and in his talk will not only give a first-hand view of President Coolidge's attitude toward the Northwest, but will briefly discuss from a new viewpoint the economic situation of the Northwest, and the league rate situation.

A former war correspondent, publicist and lecturer, Mr. Washburn is known as an entertaining speaker.

Former Governor L. B. Hanna and Governor Nestos will speak at the meeting.

The annual meeting will get under way promptly at 7:30 p. m., with community singing, music by the high school orchestra and the Juvenile Band saxophone quartette. There also will be musical selections during the evening. The meeting will be made a civic "open fest" and will be entertaining as well as instructive throughout. Every citizen of the city is urged to be present, and members of the Burleigh county dairy circuit and farmers are especially invited.

REGULAR G. O. P. ELECT SPEAKER OVER DEMOCRAT

Gillett of Massachusetts Is Chosen Again to Preside Over Lower House

PROMISES ARE GIVEN

Rep. Longworth Says Insurgents Will Have Full Hearing on Rules Changes

Washington, Dec. 5.—Representative Miller, Republican, and Buckley, Democrat, were sworn in as members of the house from Illinois today after protests had been made to their being seated.

Washington, Dec. 5.—A protest against the seating of Edward E. Miller as a Republican member of the house from the 22nd Illinois district was made today from the floor by Rep. Rainey, Democrat of Illinois, as representative-elects from that state were about to take the oath of office.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(By the A. P.).—Frederick H. Gillette of Massachusetts was re-elected speaker of the house today when the Republican insurgents voted for him for the first time since a deadlock developed Monday.

The re-election of Mr. Gillette completed organization of the 68th Congress and paved the way for President Coolidge to deliver tomorrow his first message to a joint session of the house and senate.

The insurgents decided to abandon their fight after they had been assured by Representative Longworth of Ohio, the Republican leader, that opportunity would be afforded later to freely offer amendments to the house rules. From the start the insurgent group has maintained that its real fight was for a rules revision.

The break came on the first ballot today, the ninth taken for speaker since Monday noon. From the outset the insurgents had been casting 17 votes for Cooper of Wisconsin, one of their leaders, and five for Madden of Illinois. On the final ballot Gillette received 215 votes.

Rep. Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic candidate, had 197 and two voted for Rep. Madden.

That gave Gillette a majority of seven votes.

The Democrats voted solidly for Garrett. The two who voted for Madden were James of Michigan and Reid of Illinois, both Republicans.

Rep. Kvale, independent, Minnesota, and Wefald, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, who had supported Cooper, voted "present," as did Garrett and Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin. Gillette did not vote. Madden voted for Gillette as he had from the first.

TO SPEAK TOMORROW

Washington, Dec. 5.—President Coolidge's annual message to Congress will be delivered at a joint session of the senate and house shortly after noon tomorrow.

Definite decision as to the time of his appearance was reached today after the White House had been in communication with the leaders at the capital.

SEEK CASES FOR JURY TRIAL

Judge James A. Coffey, presiding in district court, was making every effort today to get the civil court trials under way. Absence from the city of some attorneys made it impossible in other courts made it impossible to find a jury case for trial until this afternoon.

Judge Coffey denied the petition of Theodore A. Mertins for divorce from Ida Mertins on the ground of cruelty.

NEW ASSISTANT IS APPOINTED

A. L. Butterwick of Minnewaukan has been named an assistant attorney general, filling a vacancy that has existed on the staff of Attorney-General George Shafer for sometime. The position has been filled by special assistants recently.

FORD LOSER

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 5.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, was given the Farmer-Labor presidential endorsement by a vote of 31,099 against 7,237 for Henry Ford. Tony Ayres, chairman of the state central committee, won the senatorial place by a large majority over Mark Bates, former leader in the Nonpartisan League.

RANCHER DIES

Dickinson, Dec. 5.—Rudolph Pavlicek, a well known local settler, residing on a farm ten miles north of this city, passed away at his home last Saturday, old age being given as the cause of his death. He was born in Bohemia 73 years ago, and had resided at his Dunn county farm for many years.

Funeral services were held in the St. Wenceslaus Catholic church on Monday and interment made in the St. Wenceslaus cemetery in this city.

SURVEYORS GO THROUGH BIG ADVENTURES

Geological Survey Party Map Out Stretches of Colorado Canyon

BOATS CAUSE TROUBLE

Radio Kept Investigators in Touch with Outside World

Washington, Dec. 3.—Twenty-foot waves, 80-foot boulders and 60-foot lava pinnacles rising sheer out of the channel, radio troubles and a labor strike, were some of the trials and tribulations besetting the Geological Survey party which recently mapped the last stretch of the Canyon of the Colorado. In his report on the trip, T. H. Birdseye, who headed the expedition, recorded that in the 450-mile journey encounters with canyons which had struck fear into the hearts of other hardy adventurers and sightseers became daily incidents.

The stretch of the Colorado River from Lees Ferry, Arizona, to Needles, California, was the last that had not been accurately surveyed for mapping, and the purpose of the hazardous expedition was to locate possible dam sites for flood prevention, power development and irrigation. It was this party that was reported lost early last October, when a half wrecked boat was discovered that was thought to have belonged to them. However, the ten men accomplished the feat with one broken rib the only casualty, and with the loss of only a small canoe.

The first task encountered by the engineers was that of trucking a 15-foot boat down a narrow trail blasted in the side wall of the Canyon, near Lees Ferry. This boat was taken by auto 140 miles, from Flagstaff, Arizona, the nearest railroad station.

The four boats used were eighteen footers, decked over at both ends with water hatches and metal compartments for buoyancy and for keeping instruments and supplies dry. The lost canoe was a light collapsible canvas craft, which was so completely demolished in its mishap that only the oars, oarlocks and shaft were recovered.

REPORT ON HARDING

One of the interesting features of the trip was the comparative ease with which radio messages were picked up, in the bottom of the canyon, even sometimes 1,000 feet below the rim. The death of President Harding was heard of within an hour after the event.

As the cockpits in the boats were large enough only to accommodate the oarsmen, the two passengers each was forced to curl up to lie down on the deck, holding on for life to the lines, and being continually drenched by spray and waves.

"The waves were mountainous," Mr. Birdseye reported, "and to some of us our first ride of this kind was a genuine thriller. But we afterward became so used to riding rough water and getting soaked that we viewed with one another in making the plunge with a lighted pipe or cigarette without losing the light. Upsets were not unusual. At one time one of the men was thrown out of his boat, turning a complete somersault, and going down out of sight. But he soon reappeared, caught the boat which had not turned over, climbed aboard and weathered the rapids. Another boat was tossed high in the air in another rapids, and when it came down, bottom-side up, the men were thrown out between it and the rocky banks, one narrowly escaping being crushed.

MURDERED BY "BLACK HAND"

Victim Laughed at Note When First Received

New York, Dec. 4.—(By the A. P.)—Dominick Maggio, who laughed three weeks ago when he received a letter signed with a smeary black hand and demanding money or his life, was shot dead early today in his Brooklyn home after his wife, three children and himself had been chloroformed. Gas masks, the empty chloroform bottle, the murder gun and the two empty cartridges were left by the slayers beside their victims' heads. Maggio was shot twice. His wife, only semi-conscious from the fumes of the drug that had been sprayed by an atomizer heard the shots and made a feeble attempt to aid him but she was felled by a blow on the head. With her children she was taken to a hospital.

KLAN FIGHT BREAKS ANEW IN OKLAHOMA

Opponents to Make Effort to Pass Anti-Klan Legislation at Session

Oklahoma City, Dec. 4.—(By the A. P.)—The controversy over anti-Klan legislation promised to break anew in the Oklahoma lower assembly this afternoon when the lower house takes up for consideration a measure passed last week by the senate.

Generally regarded as holding the balance of power, Ku Klux Klan sympathizers are expected to launch their attack at the outset of the proceedings by moving to postpone consideration indefinitely which would in effect mean the death of the measure in the present session. Supporters of the bill are mustering their forces to press for immediate consideration with the view that adequate anti-Klan legislation must be enacted or the legislature will have broken faith with the people.

ELECTION UPHELD

Oklahoma City, Dec. 4.—The Oklahoma supreme court today held legal the special election of October 2 at which the constitutional amendment was adopted empowering the state legislature to meet without call by the governor.

SURE, CRUSOE HAD GOOD TIME

Legion Play, "Oh, Oh Cindy" To Prove His Was Gay Island

When Robinson Crusoe was shipwrecked upon his island he prepared for a lonesome time, but he didn't have it. Not he. When his hired man, Friday, fell in love with Lily, the Queen of the Cannibals, his trouble merely began. Though it isn't generally known, Friday's rival, Saturday, was prominent in social circles; and aside from being a musical genius, a bass drum soloist to be exact, he was possessed of untold wealth in the form of an egg. Of course, it wouldn't be fair to you to tell in detail what happened, but things did happen. The affair was the talk of the entire island. It is revealed entirely in "Oh, Oh Cindy" which will be presented at the auditorium, under the direction of the John B. Rogers Producing Co., for Dec. 11 and 12.

The part of Robinson Crusoe is interpreted by Melvin Steen, who seems as perfectly at home on an island as he does on Main Street. Much fun is provided by the keen antagonism of Friday and Saturday, which parts are carried by Cliff Hubbard and Archie McPherson, respectively.

Eather Manson, as Lily, deserves special mention for her clever portrayal of the role of the cannibal princess. This part is easily one of the high spots in a bill of top-notch characters.

Assisting in these scenes and taking the parts of cannibals are: Agnes Nielson, Doretha Getman, Theo Lucille Vetter, Zena Hoffman, the Rosen, Hilda Landgren, Frances Whitely, Esther Swanson, Rosella Rausch, Helen Bradley, Grace Elness, Marian Strutz, Jeanne Setser, Grace Livdahl, Audrey Rohrer, Victoria Dunn.

Tickets have been placed on sale by the finance committee. M. H. Gilman, who has charge of the financial side of the production reports that the outlook seems very good.

Discussion of Vital Issues to North Dakota, By

GOVERNOR NESTOS, Former GOVERNOR L. B. HANNA and

MAJOR STANLEY WASHBURN, journalist, publicist and well known war correspondent.

Former Governor Hanna is well versed in conditions of an economic nature and will touch on these in his address.

Fresh from his successful trip to East Gov. Nestos has many interesting impressions to relate and a definite program to promote this state's various industries.

Stanley Washburn will speak upon the Lignite Industry and tell of his recent visit to Washington in the interest of North Dakota's coal production. He is an interesting speaker and those interested in the development of the state should not fail to hear this address.

Tudor SEDAN

$590 Fully Equipped

The Lowest Priced Sedan

IN the Tudor Sedan a wholly new Ford body type is offered American motorists.

It is distinguished by a compact, roomy body, two wide doors opening forward, and folding right front seat. It is a car you can get into easily, drive handily, and park quickly.

Long-panel windows affording an open view in every direction, make for safer driving and greater motoring enjoyment.

Upholstery is both attractive and serviceable.

At $590, this is the lowest priced Sedan ever placed on the American market. Combining all the familiar Ford qualities with the utility of its distinctive body type, it is a car of broad appeal and compelling value.

URGE NEED OF MILLIONS FOR HARBOR WORK

Chief Engineers of Army Submits Reports of Needs of Country

MINNESOTA GETS SHARE

Mississippi River Receives Largest Share of Recommended Appropriation

Washington, Dec. 5.—Work on the country's rivers, harbors and waterways will require $63,328,065 during the year beginning July 1, 1924.

Recommendations for the various projects were made by the Chief of Engineers of the Army, under whose direction the report was made, in his annual report submitted to Congress Monday with the 1923 estimates. Appropriations for last year, including permanent annual appropriations, amounted to $70,957,151, bringing the total appropriations since the work began to $1,201,566,845, not including $52,258,410 for Wilson Dam (No. 2) at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

For general river and harbor work for the fiscal year of 1925 the Chief of Engineers says $45,428,065 can be profitably expended. Expenditures for the year which ended June 30, 1923 for this work were $47,478,357 and appropriations for the present year were $56,589,910 of which $45,524,410 had been allotted.

The Mississippi river receives the largest share of recommended appropriations for this year, its total, including work of the Mississippi River Commission, aggregating $13,630,000.

New York harbor and the waters in its vicinity require more than $6,500,000.

Dam Projects. Ohio River locks, dams, improvements and open channel work call for $6,000,000.

Wilson Dam at Muscle Shoals is allotted $7,000,000 for energetic prosecution of the work there and for payments for hydraulic and electrical machinery, lock and flood gates, and other necessary machinery. Expenditures will average $800,000 monthly during the fiscal year of 1925. It is estimated $13,000,000 will be required to complete the project.

GERMAN MASS IN PATHETIC CONDITION

Many Old People go Upon Streets for Alms—Many Unemployed

HAD GOOD CROPS

People Indignant at Reichstag—Realize Failure of Resistance

Berlin, Dec. 5.—While politicians quibble and delay, the German masses starve or live on insufficient rations. Unemployment grows at a rapid rate and millions of Germans face a winter of want and privation. Berlin and other cities and towns have established municipal kitchens. Limited quantities of free fuel are provided for by cards. But the meals and the fuel are dependent upon cards whose issuance is irregular and shares the general disorder which has spread throughout the control of food supplies.

With the abolishment of the bread card and the subsequent rise of German blackbread to figures which are fantastic in comparison with the unemployment doles, the situation became more acute than ever and gave political agitators their opportunity to incite riot.

The condition of the unemployed is pathetic in the extreme. By degrees the old people, many of them middle-class, have been forced to go upon the street for alms.

But the rioters are not of this class for the most part. It is the youngsters, many of them Communists, and many of them not Germans, who have organized the riots. However, the grounds for violent demonstrations against officialdom are so valid that the extremists have the sympathy, if not the actual support, of men and women of nearly all classes.

Charges that the demonstrations have had much encouragement from Moscow have not done much to soften the bitterness of the German public toward the central government. The fact remains that Germany had an excellent crop this year. There are more than enough potatoes for the German public. Germany had a bumper crop of grain. But the currency crash and the letdown of transportation and general disorganization in the government have made it impossible to distribute the food and enable the public to buy it.

Indignation is general against all parties in the Reichstag. Feeling is high against leaders who have allowed politics to get into such a jangle that politicians seem to be thinking only of the welfare of their particular party and of their own jobs. The public is gradually beginning to realize how badly it was led when the passive resistance in the Ruhr was instituted. While it was predicted by many politicians that abandonment of the passive resistance would cause much criticism, the abandonment seems rather to have caused a relief and the public is indignant now that it was ever induced to believe such a step would effect a change in the French attitude.

PEN STORY OF BROOKLYN SLAYINGS

On Nov. 14 William S. Barlow and William H. McLaughlin, bank messengers, were slain on mezzanine of Brooklyn elevated station. Bandits escaped with more than $45,000.

Several weeks later Morris Barlow Diamond was arrested in room of a Cleveland, O., hotel. Police after long search said his fingerprints corresponded with those on "murder car."

On day following, Diamond's brother, Joseph, a youth of 21, surrendered to police, knowing he, too, was sought. Both men were charged with murder in first degree.

Then, several days later, Anthony Pantano, former clerk in bank for which the slain men worked, was arrested, police charging he helped plan the hold-up.

But still police seek others, even after arresting seven more in addition to the Diamonds and Pantano. They have broadcasted descriptions of two men believed to have done actual killing.

LITIGATION IN FEDERAL CASES ON INCREASE

Attorney General's Report Gives Glimpse of Many Prosecutions

RUM CAUSES MANY

An Increasing Number Are Convicted in Criminal Prosecutions

Washington, Dec. 5.—Litigation over violations of federal laws is on the increase in the United States, according to the annual report of Attorney General Daugherty made yesterday to Congress.

In a volume replete with statistics of the government's work in law enforcement, against criminals ranging from big business to bootleggers, the Attorney General and his staff detailed increases in prosecutions civil as well as criminal, running the gamut of the federal statutes. Increase in convictions also were recited in the story of the vast work of the Department of Justice to secure observance of the law.

Prohibition cases formed a large part of the Department's work, but there were large increases also in prosecuting violations of white slave, tax, public land, postal, banking and other federal regulations. Activity also was reported in pressing the war frauds cases.

Under the national prohibition act alone, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition and tax cases, reported 49,021 criminal and 4,109 civil cases were begun during the last fiscal year—an increase of 15,889 over the previous year, Federal courts, she said, were unable to keep abreast of the number of cases brought although 42,370 criminals and 4,109 civil cases were disposed of during the year, with 23,052 criminal and 4,064 civil cases left pending.

Rum smuggling, Mrs. Willebrandt's report added, is "the most gigantic criminal problem the United States ever faced on the high seas." She said the Coast Guard was not adequate with present equipment to patrol the long Atlantic and Pacific coasts effectively, and reiterated statistics of liquor transactions in the Bahama Islands indicating extensive smuggling into this country.

"In many districts," her report said, "the variance between sentences imposed for violations of the national prohibition act and those imposed for convictions of other federal crimes is striking. Some courts which exact maximum penalties in other federal crimes are reluctant to place heavy punishment on prohibition violators."

War Fraud Cases. War fraud prosecutions, the Attorney General's report stated, have been pushed vigorously, hundreds of cases are under investigation, with $232,000 already collected and judgments of $1,225,000 additional secured. About 100 cases involving $64,237,000, exclusive of the Chemical Foundation suit at Wilmington, Del., now are pending in the courts, with 34 indictments already returned.

Pioneer work in the war frauds section has been accomplished, the report said, although much time to bring the cases to conclusion will be required. Compromise settlements are being made in a number of cases, the report said, with realizations from this source already totalling $3,708,000.

Anti-trust cases to the number of 44 are pending, according to the report of Augustus T. Seymour, Assistant Attorney General in charge of that work. Twenty such cases were disposed of during the last year.

BRAID IN DEMAND. Novelty hat and scarf sets make effective use of silk braid. Padded cordings, cross-stitching and flashy embroideries are also much in demand.

SAYS FARMER IS NOT ASKING FOR HANDOUT

Statement Is Made by Vrooman in Keynote Speech at Dem Convention

ASKS NO SUBSIDY

Coolidge Is Investigating to Find Something to "Feed Farmer"

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 5.—The farmer is asking neither for a handout nor for "easy money" and he is asking for nothing from the government except that it help him to help himself, Carl Vrooman told the proposal men in the keynote speech before the Democratic State Convention here today.

"The farmer intends to work out his own salvation, but he realizes that he, like every other good citizen is entitled to the government's assistance in so doing, that governments were created for the benefit of all their citizens—even the farmer—and that the only limit that should be set to the amount of assistance that the government should give the farmer, or any other class, is the limit automatically reached when the government attempts to enrich one class at the expense of the others," Mr. Vrooman said.

"As a matter of fact the farmer is about the only class that does not ask the government to go beyond this limit. The shipping industry for fifty years has been loudly demanding a subsidy; the railroads, like Oliver Twist, have always had their hand out for 'more,' and in that notorious piece of paternalistic legislation—the Cummins-Esch Act—they received a cash dole from the federal treasury of six hundred million dollars, to say nothing of the hundreds of million dollars handed them from the farmers and the rest of the traveling and shipping public in the shape of higher freight and passenger rates.

Manufacturers Beginning. "Our manufacturing industries began by merely asking for free milk to nourish 'infant industries,' but have gradually worked up to an arrogant demand, which the present administration has granted, through the Fordney tariff act, for the very life blood of the farmers and the rest of the consuming public who are forced to buy their products.

"Adding insult to injury, the administration has tried to hoodwink the farmer by giving him a tariff on farm crops, the prices of which are determined in world markets. Every farmer knows that, on nine out of ten of our standard farm crops, the highest possible tariff would be about as useful to him as an orchestra or victrola to a deaf man.

"With the presidential election at hand, the Coolidge administration is feverishly looking for some new line of promises to feed the farmer on until the votes have been safely counted next November. The President recently sent a commission across the continent to investigate conditions and advise him. Mr. Eugene Mayer, the head of that Commission, in his report to the President, with a perfectly straight face, recommended as a means of meeting the present agricultural crisis, the creation of a national system of co-operative marketing—totally ignoring the fact that for more than half a century the best and most devoted leaders in the agricultural world have been slowly but surely working out just such a co-operative marketing system as he so recently has discovered the need for.

Plan Co-operation. "Every intelligent student of co-operation in this country knows that it will take decades rather than years to perfect this system on a national scale. If the farmers of America are lamed by the attempt to make up their losses with borrowed money until an adequate national co-operative marketing system has been developed, most of them will 'go broke' or become hopelessly enmeshed in the tolls of the money lenders, before this highly desirable end has been achieved. Apparently this is the intention of certain powerful financial interests.

"Some relief doubtless can be secured by reducing freight rates on farm products as well as on bulky articles such as implements, coal, and fertilizer which the farmers have to buy. But to my mind the only suggestion so far made that actually will give the farmer any considerable and immediate relief is the proposal to find and open up foreign markets for his surplus crops.

"This can be done, first, by a revision of our tariff in the interest of the whole nation rather than of a few profiteering industries, second, by adopting a foreign policy that at the same time will promote our national prosperity and help to put Europe on its feet, and thirdly, and most quickly by 'dumping' the farmers' surplus crops abroad on credit."

BISMARCK GIRL IN A HOSPITAL WITH FRACTURE

Miss Gwendolen Welch To Be Confined to Bed For Several Weeks

Miss Gwendolen Welch, who was injured in an automobile accident in Grand Forks Sunday night, will be confined to a hospital for several weeks, according to information from there. She suffered a broken bone in the hip. Miss Welch, it was reported, was not suffering but would be confined for a considerable period. The Grand Forks Herald of Monday afternoon carries the following account of the accident:

Gwendolen Welch of Bismarck, a student at the University of North Dakota, was painfully injured and it is expected will be confined to the hospital for several weeks, while her three companions escaped practically without injury when a car in which they were riding struck a street car at the corner of North Third street and University avenue about 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Miss Welch showed improvement last evening, her physician announced.

Besides Miss Welch, the car was occupied by John A. Smith of Carington, the driver; and John W. Ankenmann of Bismarck, both students at the university; and Miss Daphne Breen of Yonkers, N. D. These people were uninjured.

According to the account given the Smith party was driving to the city, where they intended to eat Sunday dinner. When they turned off of University avenue onto Third street, they were confronted by the street car. Henry Glass, operator of the street car, stopped when he noticed the automobile, but the auto swerved on the turn and struck the street car with its rear end.

The auto, which was a Lincoln belonging to Al Auman, had a wheel and fender broken while windows in the street car were smashed.

Miss Lucile Auman, a sister of Al Auman, was not in the car at the time of the accident, as at first reported Monday.

GLAD TO BE BACK IN HIS DEATH CELL

just as the police were knocking at the front.

No matter where he turned, no matter where he went there was always the fear of a heavy hand being laid on his shoulder.

Once, years ago, there had been a girl, Eliza, that Dominick was building a home for. But the home had burned down and Eliza married somebody with better luck.

Now, comparatively safe in Canada, Dominick's thoughts turned again to home and children.

"But that wasn't right," he says. "How could I bring my unhappiness to someone else?"

Then, a few weeks ago, in Nelson, British Columbia, someone thought to ask Dominick how he happened to get into Canada. Dominick couldn't produce the necessary papers and they threw him in jail. The alternative was a fine of $150.

Friend Gave Him Away
Dominick wrote to his friend, Joe, for the money. Once, in a burst of loneliness, Dominick had told Joe what his real name was and how he had broken from prison. The temptation was too much for Joe. Joe tipped off the police.

Now, though still protesting his innocence of the murder of Dominick Morobito, the crime of which he was first convicted, Dominick doesn't much care what happens.

"It wasn't worth it," he says, "those five years spent in fear and loneliness. It is better to face things as they come. Once I had a dream. I thought people were chasing me and I ran into the church. Then, from above the altar, Jesus spoke to me. He said, 'Why are you afraid, Dominick? Nothing can take you from my hand.'"

TWICE PROVEN

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days and distressing urinary disorders, don't experiment. Read this twice-told testimony. It's Bismarck evidence—doubly proven.

Mrs. N. F. Reynolds, 417 Madison Ave., Bismarck, says: "I suffered from pains through my back and kidneys, and other symptoms of kidney trouble. My ankles swelled and I found it difficult to get my shoes on at times. After trying several different kidney remedies without getting the least help I finally got Doan's Pills at the Lenhart Drug Co. and a few convinced me that they were a good remedy. I continued using Doan's until all trace of the trouble had entirely disappeared.

Over twelve years later, Mrs. Reynolds said: "I think as highly of Doan's Pills as when I recommended them before. I have used them on several occasions since when I have taken cold and noticed a slight return of my former trouble and have always obtained prompt relief."

ORPHANS PUT IN GOOD HOME

Through the efforts of the Children's Bureau, established by the last legislature, three orphan children of Mountrail county will have a chance in life. With the assistance of C. B. Davis, juvenile officer of Minot, Miss Henrietta Land, director of the bureau, removed the three orphans, all under seven years of age, from the home of their grandmother, where it was felt they did not have proper treatment, to the home of an uncle in St. Paul. The uncle has promised to educate all of them.

BISMARCK GIRL IN A HOSPITAL WITH FRACTURE

Miss Gwendolen Welch To Be Confined to Bed For Several Weeks

Miss Gwendolen Welch, who was injured in an automobile accident in Grand Forks Sunday night, will be confined to a hospital for several weeks, according to information from there. She suffered a broken bone in the hip. Miss Welch, it was reported, was not suffering but would be confined for a considerable period. The Grand Forks Herald of Monday afternoon carries the following account of the accident:

Gwendolen Welch of Bismarck, a student at the University of North Dakota, was painfully injured and it is expected will be confined to the hospital for several weeks, while her three companions escaped practically without injury, when a car in which they were riding struck a street car at the corner of North Third street and University avenue about 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Miss Welch showed improvement last evening, her physician announced.

Besides Miss Welch, the car was occupied by John A. Smith of Carington, the driver; and John W. Ankenmann of Bismarck, both students at the university; and Miss Daphne Breen of Towner, N. D. These people were uninjured.

According to the account given the Smith party was driving to the city, where they intended to eat Sunday dinner. When they turned off of University avenue onto Third street, they were confronted by the street car. Henry Glass, operator of the street car, stopped when he noticed the automobile, but the auto swerved on the turn and struck the street car with its rear end.

The auto, which was a Lincoln belonging to Al Auman, had a wheel and fender broken while windows in the street car were smashed.

Miss Lucile Auman, a sister of Al Auman, was not in the car at the time of the accident, as at first reported Monday.

just as the police were knocking at the front.

No matter where he turned, no matter where he went there was always the fear of a heavy hand being laid on his shoulder.

Once, years ago, there had been a girl, Elisa, that Dominick was building a home for. But the home had burned down and Elisa married somebody with better luck.

Now, comparatively safe in Canada, Dominick's thoughts turned again to home and children.

"But that wasn't right," he says. "How could I bring my unhappiness to someone else?"

Then, a few weeks ago, in Nelson, British Columbia, someone thought to ask Dominick how he happened to get into Canada. Dominick couldn't produce the necessary papers and they threw him in jail. The alternative was a fine of $150.

Friend Gave Him Away

Dominick wrote to his friend, Joe, for the money. Once, in a burst of loneliness, Dominick had told Joe what his real name was and how he had broken from prison. The temptation was too much for Joe. Joe tipped off the police.

Now, though still protesting his innocence of the murder of Dominick Morobito, the crime of which he was first convicted, Dominick doesn't much care what happens.

"It wasn't worth it," he says, "those five years spent in fear and loneliness. It is better to face things as they come. Once I had a dream. I thought people were chasing me and I ran into the church. Then, from above the altar, Jesus spoke to me. He said, 'Why are you afraid, Dominick? Nothing can take you from my hand.'"

BANKERS TO MEET HERE

Will Gather in Bismarck on Thursday Afternoon

A. H. Peterson, cashier of the Farmers State bank of Mandan, and president of the Missouri Slope group of the State Bankers' association, today issued a call for a meeting of slope bankers to be held in the Association of Commerce rooms at Bismarck, at 4 p. m. Thursday afternoon, December 6.

The call was issued upon the request of Secretary W. C. MacFadden of Fargo in a campaign to secure changes in rules of the intermediate credit bank system.

HARVEY MAN DIES IN CRASH

Harvey, N. D., Dec. 5.—Funeral services for Herman H. Phillips of Harvey, president of the local commercial club and well known throughout the northwest for his civic development activities, who was killed in an automobile accident seven miles north of Ellendale on Sunday, were held today at Mazeppa, Minnesota, Mr. Phillips' former home. Interment will be made at that city.

Mrs. Phillips, who was driving the car, escaped serious injury, but Theodore, their 15 year old son, received a broken arm, leg and shoulder. It was reported.

According to word received here the roads were very slippery in the Ellendale vicinity and the car in which the Phillips were riding skidded into a ditch. Mr. Phillips died while being taken to a hospital.

Mrs. N. E. Reynolds, 417 Madison Ave., Bismarck, says: "I suffered from pains through my back and kidneys, and other symptoms of kidney trouble. My ankles swelled and I found it difficult to get my shoes on at times. After trying several different kidney remedies without getting the least help I finally got Doan's Pills at the Lenhart Drug Co., and a few convinced me that they were a good remedy. I continued using Doan's until all trace of the trouble had entirely disappeared.

Over twelve years later, Mrs. Reynolds said: "I think as highly of Doan's Pills as when I recommended them before. I have used them on several occasions since when I have taken cold and noticed a slight return of my former trouble and have always obtained prompt relief." 60c at all dealers. Where's the Man or Boy who doesn't want a Bang-up Knife for Christmas

THERE'S something about a fine, sturdy pocket knife that reaches right down into the heart of man and boy alike.

But it has to be a real knife—make no mistake about that!

Here are shown a dozen Remington pocket knives—as Christmas suggestions.

Every one is a practical cutting tool. The blades are sharp and will cut. The handles hold on. The springs keep their strength.

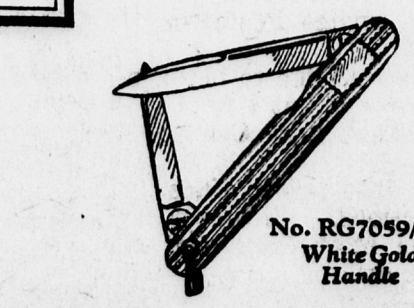

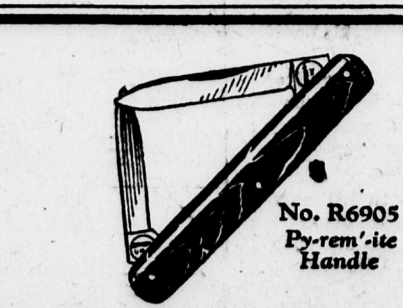

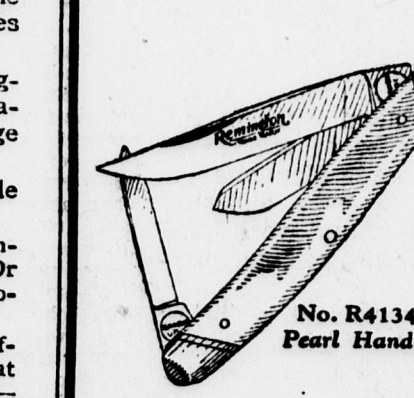

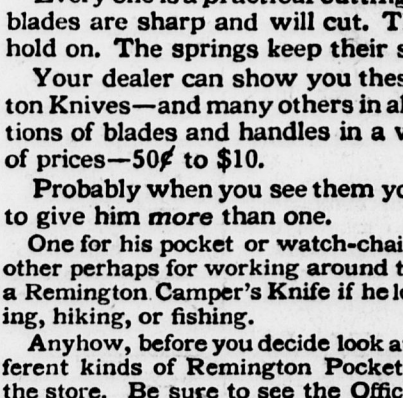

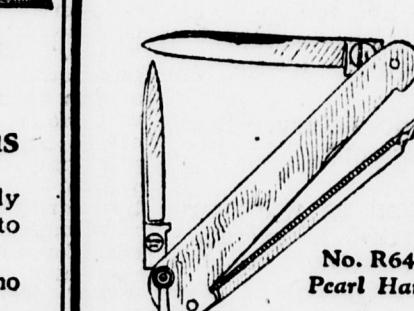

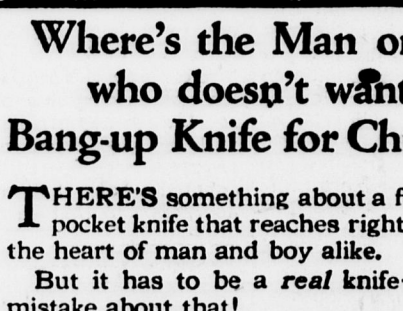

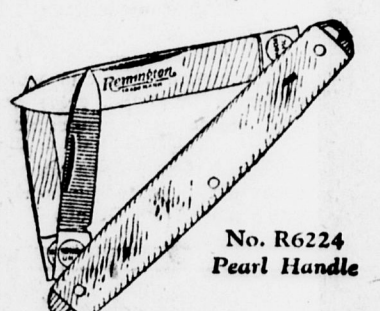

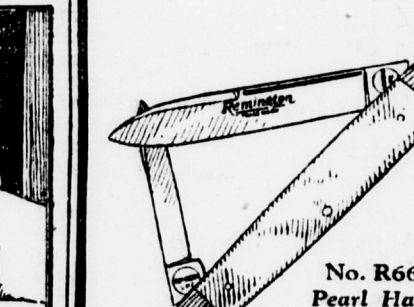

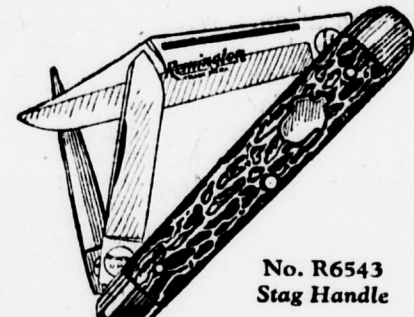

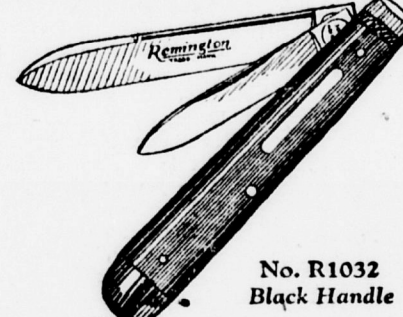

Your dealer can show you these Remington Knives—and many others in all combinations of blades and handles in a wide range of prices—50¢ to $10.

Probably when you see them you'll decide to give him more than one.

One for his pocket or watch-chain—and another perhaps for working around the car. Or a Remington Camper's Knife if he loves camping, hiking, or fishing.

Anyhow, before you decide look at all the different kinds of Remington Pocket Knives at the store. Be sure to see the Official Knife—Boy Scouts of America.

URGE NEED OF MILLIONS FOR HARBOR WORK

Chief Engineers of Army Submits Reports of Needs of Country

MINNESOTA GETS SHARE

Mississippi River Receives Largest Share of Recommended Appropriation

Washington, Dec. 5.—Work on the country's rivers, harbors and waterways will require $63,328,065 during the year beginning July 1, 1924.

Recommendations for the various projects were made by the Chief of Engineers of the Army, under whose direction this work is carried on, in his annual report submitted to Congress Monday with the 1923 estimates. Appropriations for last year, including permanent annual appropriations, amounted to $70,557,151, bringing the total appropriations since the work began in 1811 to $1,201,565,845, not including $22,558,410 for Wilson Dam (No. 2) at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

For general river and harbor work for the fiscal year of 1925 the Chief of Engineers says $45,428,065 can be profitably expended. Expenditures for the year which ended June 30, 1923 for this work were $47,478,357 and appropriations for the present year were $56,559,910, which $45,534,410 had been allotted.

The Mississippi river receives the largest share of recommended appropriations for this year, its total, including work of the Mississippi River Commission, aggregating $19,530,000.

New York harbor and the waters in its vicinity require more than $5,500,000.

Dam Projects

Ohio River locks, dams, improvements and open channel work call for $6,000,000. Wilson Dam at Muscle Shoals is allotted $7,000,000 for energetic prosecution of the work there and for payments for hydraulic and electrical machinery, lock and flood gates, and other accessory machinery. Expenditures will average $800,000 monthly during the fiscal year of 1925. It is estimated $13,000,000 will be required to complete the project.

GERMAN MASS IN PATHETIC CONDITION

Many Old People go Upon Streets for Alms—Many Unemployed

HAD GOOD CROPS

People Indignant at Reichstag—Realize Failure of Resistance

Berlin, Dec. 5.—While politicians quibble and delay, the German masses starve or live on insufficient rations. Unemployment grows at a rapid rate and millions of Germans face a winter of want and privation. Berlin and other cities and towns have established municipal kitchens. Limited quantities of free fuel are provided for by cards. But the meals and the fuel are dependent upon cards whose issuance is irregular and causes the general disorder which has spread throughout the control of food supplies.

With the abolishment of the breadcard and the subsequent rise of German blackbread to figures which are fantastic in comparison with the unemployment doles, the situation became more acute than ever and gave political agitators their opportunity to incite riot.

The condition of the unemployed is pathetic in the extreme. By degrees the old people, many of them middle-class, have been forced to go upon the street for alms.

But the rioters are not of this class for the most part. It is the youngsters, many of them Communists, and many of them not Germans, who have organized the riots. However, the grounds for violent demonstrations against officials and so-called traitors are the same. The rioters have the sympathy, if not the actual support, of men and women of nearly all classes.

Charges that the demonstrations have had much encouragement from Moscow have not done much to soften the bitterness of the German public toward the central government. The fact remains that Germany had an excellent crop this year. There are more than enough potatoes for the German public. Germany had a bumper crop of grain. But the currency crash and the letdown of transportation and general disorganization in the government have made it impossible to distribute the food and enable the public to buy it.

Indignation is general against all parties in the Reichstag. Feeling is high against leaders who have allowed politics to get into such a jangle that politicians seem to be thinking only of the welfare of their particular party and of their own jobs. The public is gradually beginning to realize how badly it was led when the passive resistance in the Ruhr was instituted. While it was predicted by many politicians that abandonment of the passive resistance would cause much criticism, the abandonment seems rather to have caused a relief and the public is indignant now that it was ever induced to believe such a step would effect a change in the French attitude.

PEN STORY OF BROOKLYN SLAYINGS

On Nov. 14 William S. Barlow and William H. McLaughlin, bank messengers, were slain on mezzanine of Brooklyn elevated station. Bandits escaped with more than $40,000.

Several weeks later Morris Barlow Diamond was arrested in room of a Cleveland, O., hotel. Police after long search said his fingerprints corresponded with those on "murder car."

On day following, Diamond's brother, Joseph, a youth of 21, surrendered to police, knowing he, too, was sought. Both men were charged with murder in first degree.

Then, several days later, Anthony Pantano, former clerk in bank for which the slain men worked, was arrested, police charging he helped plan the hold-up.

But still police seek others, even after arresting seven more in addition to the Diamonds and Pantano. They have broadcasted descriptions of two men believed to have done actual killing.

LITIGATION IN FEDERAL CASES ON INCREASE

Attorney General's Report Gives Glimpse of Many Prosecutions

RUM CAUSES MANY

An Increasing Number Are Convicted in Criminal Prosecutions

Washington, Dec. 5.—Litigation over violations of federal laws is on the increase in the United States, according to the annual report of Attorney General Daugherty made yesterday to Congress.

In a volume replete with statistics of the government's work in law enforcement, against criminals ranging from big business to bootleggers, the Attorney General and his staff detailed increases in prosecutions civil as well as criminal, running the gamut of the federal statutes. Increase in convictions also were cited in the story of the vast work of the Department of Justice to secure observance of the law.

Prohibition cases formed a large part of the Department's work, but there were large increases also in prosecuting violations of white slave, tax, public land, postal, banking and other federal regulations. Activity also was reported in pressing the war frauds cases.

Under the national prohibition act alone, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition and tax cases, reported 49,021 criminal and 4,109 civil cases were begun during the last fiscal year—an increase of 15,889 over the previous year. Federal courts, she said, were unable to keep abreast of the number of cases brought, although 42,370 criminal and 4,109 civil cases were disposed of during the year, with 23,652 criminal and 4,064 civil cases left pending.

Rum smuggling, Mrs. Willebrandt's report added, is "the most gigantic criminal problem the United States ever faced on the high seas." She said the Coast Guard was not adequate with present equipment to patrol the long Atlantic and Pacific coasts effectively, and reiterated statistics of liquor transactions in the Bahama Islands indicating extensive smuggling into this country.

"In many districts," her report said, "the variance between sentences imposed for violations of the national prohibition act and those imposed for convictions of other federal crimes is striking. Some courts which exact maximum penalties in other federal crimes are reluctant to place heavy punishment on prohibition violators."

War fraud prosecutions, the Attorney General's report stated, have been pushed vigorously, hundreds of cases are under investigation, with $3,232,000 already collected and judgments of $1,225,000 additional secured. About 100 cases involving $44,237,000, exclusive of the Chemical Foundation suit at Wilmington, Del., now are pending in the courts, with 24 indictments already returned.

Pioneer work in the war frauds section has been accomplished, the report said, although much time to bring the cases to conclusion will be required. Compromise settlements are being made in a number of cases, the report said, with realizations from this source already totaling $3,708,000.

SAYS FARMER IS NOT ASKING FOR HANDOUT

Statement Is Made by Vrooman in Keynote Speech at Dem Convention

ASKS NO SUBSIDY

Coolidge Is Investigating to Find Something to "Feed Farmer"

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 5.—The farmer is asking neither for a handout nor for "easy money" and he is asking for nothing from the government except that it help him to help himself, Carl Vrooman told the proposal men in the keynote speech before the Democratic State Convention here today.

"The farmer intends to work out his own salvation, but he realizes that he, like every other good citizen is entitled to the government's assistance in so doing, that governments were created for the benefit of all their citizens—even the farmer—and that the only limit that should be set to the amount of assistance that the government should give the farmer, or any other class, is the limit automatically reached when the government attempts to enrich one class at the expense of the others," Mr. Vrooman said.

"As a matter of fact, the farmer is about the only class that does not ask the government to go beyond this limit. The shipping industry for fifty years has been loudly demanding a subsidy; the railroads, like Oliver Twist, have always had their hand out for 'more,' and in that notorious piece of paternalistic legislation—the Cummins-Each Act—they received a cash dole from the federal treasury of six hundred million dollars, to say nothing of the hundreds of million dollars handed them from the farmers and the rest of the traveling and shipping public in the shape of higher freight and passenger rates.

Manufacturers Beginning

"Our manufacturing industries began by merely asking for free milk to nourish 'infant industries,' but have gradually worked up to an arrogant demand, which the present administration has granted, through the Fordney tariff act, for the very life blood of the farmers and the rest of the consuming public who are forced to buy their products.

"Adding insult to injury, the administration has tried to hoodwink the farmer by giving him a tariff on farm crops, the prices of which are determined in world markets. Every farmer knows that, on nine out of ten of our standard farm crops, the highest possible tariff would be about as useful to him as an orchestra or victrola to a deaf man.

"With the presidential election at hand, the Coolidge administration is feverishly looking for some new line of promises to feed the farmer on until the votes have been safely counted next November. The President recently sent a commission across the continent to investigate conditions and advise him.—Mr. Eugene Mayer, the head of that Commission, in his report to the President, with a perfectly straight face, recommended as a means of meeting the present agricultural crisis, the creation of a national system of co-operative marketing—totally ignoring the fact that for more than half a century the best and most devoted leaders in the agricultural world have been slowly but surely working out just such a co-operative marketing system as he so recently has discovered the need for.

Plan Cooperation

"Every intelligent student of co-operation in this country knows that it will take decades rather than years to perfect this system on a national scale. If the farmers of America are bamboozled into attempting to make up their losses with borrowed money until an adequate national co-operative marketing system has been developed, most of them will 'go broke' or become hopelessly enmeshed in the coils of the money lenders, before this highly desirable end has been achieved. Apparently this is the intention of certain powerful financial interests.

"Some relief definitely can be secured by reducing freight rates on farm products as well as on bulky articles such as implements, coal, and fertilizer which the farmers have to buy. But to my mind the only suggestion so far made that actually will give the farmer any considerable and immediate relief is the proposal to make up open up foreign markets for his surplus crops.

Have you enjoyed Your Eline's yet?

Remember—all coupons from Monday's paper are good the entire week—at any dealer in town!

Read Eline's Facts

1 Located in the "Cream City" of America, Eline's is the newest, most gigantic, most efficient and the finest initial milk chocolate factory in the world.

2 Almost at Eline's back door is produced the sweetest, purest milk in the world; surpassing that of even Denmark or Switzerland.

3 Only the finest milk in the world makes possible the finest milk chocolate in the world.

4 That in Eline's nothing is used but pure milk just as it comes from the dairy. No skimming of any kind is permitted, so that all the original cream will go into Eline's chocolate.

5 To insure absolutely the finest sugar, a very important part of the finest milk chocolate, Eline's has its own sugar refineries with a daily capacity of over 50,000 pounds.

6 The choice of the finest cocoa beans from which chocolate is made, no longer goes to Europe, but to America and to Eline's in the "Cream City" of America.

7 Eline's directly imports Valencia almonds from Spain or the finest Italian "AA" grade exclusively and there is no compromise. These almonds are roasted to a brown, delicious turn in our ovens and over charcoal so that all the natural sweetness and deliciousness can be retained.

8 Eline's products are absolutely pure and not only delicious, but health building and wholesome for men, women and children, particularly children.

9 And finally, American ingenuity, American efficiency and American enterprise now make it possible for you to obtain a big, generous quantity of deliciousness and purity for your 5c or 10c.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

ATTEND YOUR MEETING

The annual meeting of the Association of Commerce is to be held tonight at the City Auditorium. It is a meeting for every citizen of Bismarck, and the Association has invited all, whether members of the organization or not. It is a meeting to renew faith in Bismarck and North Dakota. Let us hope that a crowded auditorium will testify to the growing civic spirit of Bismarck and the faith of its citizens in the city.

ANYTHING TO WIN

Congress is facing an unparalleled experience. A little group of self-styled progressives have conspired to block the organization of the new Congress. Though professed believers in majority rule they are blocking the recognized majority party in Congress in its effort to provide working machinery for the sixty-eighth session. They are boring within, with a hope of weakening the structure of the great majority organization so that it may ultimately crumble. There is no hope of real success for any principles which the little group advocates in keeping Congress in idleness and the President waiting at the capitol for an opportunity to deliver his message.

It is to be hoped that the majority will find a means of victory in the organization of the national legislature without sacrificing the party tenets. It is to be hoped that the Republicans will agree upon a platform of constructive legislation, with the wise counsel of President Coolidge, and place it before the country without the least equivocation. With spurious organizations of various sorts offering destructive criticism and fanciful remedies for ills of the nation which can be met only by a sound and constructive platform, the Republicans in Congress have before them an opportunity to once more prove to the nation that the party, which has led the country in its progress of the last several decades, still is virile, able and unafraid.

MISS TARABAI

A Hindu woman, said to be stronger than Sandow, is the theatrical sensation in the orient. She Miss Tarabai, 30 years old, born in Rajputana.

One of her stunts is to bridge herself in the air, with feet on the back of one chair and neck on another, and allow two men to pound with sledgehammers on a 250-pound stone resting on her chest.

This is a favorite trick of hypnotists—demonstration might be a better word than trick.

It suggests that Miss Tarabai may perform in a condition of self-hypnotism—auto-hypnosis.

Strength, after all, is more in the will power and imagination than in the muscles, nerves and glands. This is proved frequently around insane asylums when it requires half a dozen men to subdue a frail little woman-patient during maniacal frenzy.

In fighting our way to success, natural ability and influence are excellent helps. But they are not indispensable. Any one can accomplish almost anything if he has the will and the imagination (self-hypnotism) to make himself believe he has the necessary powers.

Without self-confidence, there can be no victory. That's why men of exceptional ability so often lose out.

Confidence in self is fully as important as will power (determination), possibly more so. Carried to extremes, it becomes ridiculous—conceit. But self-confidence, held in bounds, is a short-cut to success.

Encourage children when they talk of the tremendous things they are going to accomplish later. If they continue believing, they'll probably turn imagination into fact. Ridiculing a child destroys his ambition and powers of accomplishment at the roots.

LIFE IN TROPICS

Evolution of man could never have taken place in the tropics, says Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of expedition trying to locate the cradle of the human race in Mongolia.

He reasons that life in the tropics is too easy, and men get "soft" unless they have to scurry around and work hard for a living. Progress comes only by meeting and conquering obstacles.

Obstacles should dismay no one. They are sent to "bring out" our powers—to develop our potential abilities. Championship is won gradually, by many preliminary fights, rather than by the final bout.

IGNORANT DEMOCRACY PREFERABLE

The funniest letter ever received at the White House was addressed to President Grover Cleveland, writes Professor Robert McElroy of Princeton. The letter:

"Dear sir—I am a young man which I would like to better myself. The business I am in is Junk business, but I would rather have the business in the govment, either in the Cabinet or as watchman."

Not many, like this letter writer, get into public office. But plenty of them help decide the elections. However, ignorant democracy is preferable to the most intelligent monarchy, according to American philosophy.

LIMITING SALE

A couple of boy bandits shoot a policeman in an eastern city. A wise judge comments: "There should be a law making the person who sells a gun to a minor, through the mails, responsible for any damage done. All these boy robbers got their guns through the mails."

Why limit the sale only as regards minors? Youth then would do its pistol ordering through older crooks. The real solution is to stop the sale of revolvers altogether. It would be effective if the penalty for possessing a pistol were stiff enough—say, 20 years, with no mush-hearted parole board to interfere.

GOOD NEWS FROM NORTH DAKOTA

"Our cream checks have doubled in the past year," a farmer from Bottineau county, N. D., told members of the Interstate Commerce commission at a railroad rate hearing. That statement speaks volumes for diversified farming and also for North Dakota's farming possibilities. He said one good crop will pay 25 per cent of the farmers' debts. The witness, George Siderman of Lonsford, said he planted 57 acres in corn and 300 in wheat and made a profit on the wheat as well as on the corn. Bottineau county is on the north central border of North Dakota, with little rivers that flow northward into Canada. In the past it was a hotbed of radicalism, particularly when the grasshoppers ate the crops or the sun burned them up, as Mr. Siderman mentioned. Yet in the floodtide of war prosperity, some of the farmers borrowed large sums of money to buy more land and used their cash to spend the winter in California. Mr. Siderman ascribed much of the discontent of the past to homesteaders who did not intend to live on the land they took up, but to speculate in it. If they took a gambler's chance and lost, they were unfortunate, but it is hard to see that such persons have any grievance, or any right to represent themselves as oppressed farmers.

While advocating diversified farming, the witness gave facts which prove that the change from one-crop cultivation or all grain farming is seriously handicapped by our unwise federal tax system. It takes money to make the change, but the interest rate in Bottineau county is 10 per cent. The local banker has to go outside the county or the state to get loanable funds, paying 6 or 7 per cent. He must get 2 per cent to cover expenses, besides losses on defaulted loans. At 10 per cent, he has a very small margin. The excess profits taxes and heavy income surtaxes drive capital out of the farm loan field into tax exemptions and help to keep the farm loan rate high.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

FORD, THAT'S ALL

A stroke of political genius must be credited to Mr. Robert R. Pointer of Dearborn, "a lifelong friend of Mr. Ford." He has solved in a flash the great problem how Henry Ford shall run for the Presidency. Others have debated whether the great man should seek the Republican nomination or the Democratic; whether he ought to lead the Farmer-Labor Party, or the Prohibitionists, or the Socialists, or the Single-Taxers, or the Non-Partisan League, or what might be called the Scrap-Basket Party, now in process of organization by the irrepressible Mr. Hopkins, who is all that is left of the once formidable Forty-eight. All these hesitations and doubts are brushed aside by Mr. Pointer, who announces the plan to name Mr. Ford as the representative of no party and no platform. To get rid of the platform entirely is surely a work of inspiration. The country, wearied of misleading declarations of principle, and tired of promises only made to be broken, may be expected to rise with enthusiasm to follow a political banner which has the sole inscription: "Henry Ford. No Questions Asked or Answered."

This ingenious method would also save the candidate, if he should become one, a lot of embarrassment. He is undoubtedly in record with a number of "views." Some of these he has put into words; others are embodied in actions of his which speak louder than words. To get them all, or even a part of them, into a single platform would be too much for the skill of even the most adroit political carpenter. Some of them, if reaffirmed, would make it impossible for Mr. Ford to accept the nomination of any existing party, or of any conceivable party. Hence the brilliancy of the suggestion to pitch all this rubbish out of the window and adopt Mr. Ford for his own true worth without any pretense that he is a fur-belowed Lady Clare. Mr. Pointer explains that in no case would Mr. Ford sign his name on any dotted line either before or after his nomination. That noble statement would take him into the campaign as a refreshing novelty. All that his advocates would have to do when asked where their candidate came from would be to get rid of all the old heroes about Appomattox and the apple tree, and point to the millions of slaves covering this broad land. After that, everything would be over except the cranking, the self-starting and the rattling of innumerable Tin Lizzy's.—New York Times.

"You poor, poor dear," said Ruth, coming over to me. "What has that terrible woman been saying to you? You are all in a fever."

Instead of answering I asked, "What do you think of 'Trumping His Heart'?"

"It is a very wonderful picture," "Do you think it is Paula Perier's life?"

"I have no right to think about it in any way," she said impatiently. "I get so tired, Leslie, when a woman writes a book or a play or the scenario for a picture, of having everybody say that she has put the experiences of her own life in it—particularly if those experiences have a sexual tinge. I suppose it is because in the old days we deluded ourselves into thinking that women were sexless as far as their thoughts were concerned. What hypocrites we all were. We had to cry 'Wolf'—the moment a woman was brave enough to come out and write a story or a play which made the heroine a human being."

"Trumping His Heart" is the most human picture I've seen lately but one has no right to say, unless one knows Paula Perier better than I—certainly better than Mrs. Smithson—that it is anything more than an artistic fiction. Did she tell you the story?"

"Yes, and she intimated that every one in Albany was saying that the hero was Jack."

"Perfectly ridiculous! Of course I am not holding any particular brief for Jack or any other man. I couldn't with my past experience, but it just happens, my dear, that you have adopted a baby that was put on your doorstep and that Jack knows Paula."

Perier. But nearly every man in town who loved beauty and liked to be seen with a pretty girl knew her. No one knows that Paula Perier had a baby, consequently it is absolutely malicious to make up a story of this kind.

"I oftentimes wonder, Leslie, if these scandal mongers ever remember that the commandment, 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor,' is quite as binding on human beings as 'Thou shalt not commit adultery.'"

"Ruth, you are a dear girl. You see things so clearly."

"I am only using common sense, that's all Leslie. Will you tell Jack for me that I want him to take us both, if you are well enough, day after tomorrow night to see the picture."

"But—but Ruth—"

"I must go now, dear. When I come in the morning be wearing your new negligee."

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

This was the Riddle Lady's next riddle. Nancy and Nick listened carefully to every word she said: "Rub-a-dub-dub, rub-a-dub-dub! I'm flat as a penny and round as a tub, I haven't a hand and I never had feet, Yet I'm commonly seen out parading the street."

"Ring-a-ding-ding, ring-a-ding-ding! Everyone likes me from peddler to king. I boom a loud greeting whenever I pass, In thunderous tones that no one can surpass."

"My jacket is wood and laced up to my chin. I've heard that my head's but a piece of sheep's skin. Perhaps that's the reason I have to be beat— To see just how loudly I know how to bleat."

"I'm an empty inside as a hollow balloon, And my features resemble a round harvest moon, But I've led men to battle 'midst roaring and din, And lifting my voice, I've cheered them to win."

"Santa packs me on Christmas with all of his toys, And takes me down chimney for one of the boys, He hangs me low down on the big Christmas tree With two sticks right near me where Johnny can't see."

"Rat-a-tat-tat, a rat-a-tat-tat! I hang 'round your neck like a bulky gravat, I'm not big like Jack's giant nor small as Tom Thumb."

"Is it a horn?" yawned little Boy Blue, who had stopped over in Riddle Town on his way home from the hay-field.

"No," said the Riddle Lady. "What makes you think that?"

"Well, it's round and hollow and makes a noise and leads soldiers to do."

"That's so," acknowledged the Riddle Lady. "I should have made it clearer."

"But a horn doesn't have to be beaten!" declared Nick. "And this does."

"That's right," said the Riddle Lady. "Then the riddle is all right after all."

"I know what it is," said Nick suddenly. "It's a drum!"

"Right," exclaimed the Riddle Lady brightly. "And that's the prize. A drum with red and blue lacing and yellow varnished sides. And she hung it 'round his neck."

"Hurrah for Nick!" shouted all the good-natured Riddle-Landers, not a bit jealous of his luck.

And yet I wonder what on earth the Old-Shoe Woman or Muffy Weishman or the Baker's Man would have done with it had they won it. But still! The Old-Shoe Woman would probably have given it to one of her children.

PLAN CO-OPERATION.

The Kiwanis club at their meeting last evening took up for consideration the problem of improvements for civic organizations of Mandan. It was pointed out that a committee composed of members from the various committees to co-operate in this plan would be the most desirable. At the time of the Mandan Round-up, this manner of co-operation was successfully used.

At the meeting of the Mandan Town Criers club it was voted that an early start be made on plans for the second annual Round-up in 1924. A meeting of the executive committee will be held the first of the year.

Mrs. Margaret Cowan and Amos Hand, former residents of Mandan, were united in marriage in Tacoma, Wash., according to announcements received by friends. They will make their home in Washington, where both have been residing for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bitzing, Sr. have returned from Washington, D. C., where they have been spending several months with their son, Major H. R. Bitzing and family. Major Bitzing is recovering from a recent serious illness.

Carl Klein and Carl Dahl, young farmers living south of the city, were brought to the Deaconess hospital Monday following an accident at the Mike Pitzer coal mine in which they were both injured in an explosion of dynamite.

Kiwanis Club Gives Ladies Night Banquet

The first Ladies night held by the Bismarck Kiwanis club since the presentation of the charter to the organization proved an enjoyable occasion. The evening opened with a banquet at the McManis hotel at 8 p. m. Misses Eula and Aileen Cameron, little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Cameron, presented the ladies with favors and Spencer Bolested in group singing. President Cameron of the club and A. A. Jones presided at the membership prize drawing. The ladies prize, a corsage bouquet given by the club, went to Mrs. J. C. Beck and the men's prize, given by P. L. Moulie, was won in the drawing by J. P. Wagner. J. P. Wagner of the First Guaranty Bank and Verne Miller of the Benson Optical Company were introduced as new members of the organization.

President Cameron introduced Governor Nestos as the speaker of the evening. Governor Nestos gave a chronological account of his recent visit to New York in an effort to "sell" North Dakota to the skeptics of the east. The club members enjoyed the Governor's recital of the various means used on the trip to reach and overcome sources of opposition to North Dakota and to dispel false beliefs concerning the state. He told of the surprise expressed by many when the true facts about North Dakota were presented to them and cited instances to show a changed attitude upon the part of people of power toward the state.

Dancing in the hotel dining room followed the dinner.

Woman's Club Has Meeting

The Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. H. F. Keller Monday when a fine program was given. Responses to roll call were made interesting, each member being prepared to talk on one of the following subjects: New plays, foreign affairs, inventions, social services, North Dakota, education, child welfare, science, art, new fiction, domestic politics, and filmdom.

The club members were assigned one of these topics each for the year and by this method all current topics are brought up at each meeting. Mrs. A. C. Wilkinson gave an interesting paper on "Elizabethan Prose." Mrs. E. L. Wheeler presented "The Monroe Doctrine as it Pertains to Present International Relations."

The material which Miss Bertha Palmer has gathered for the North Dakota club is being used at the meetings. This is an art collection and gives much valuable information as to the legends, resources, industries, and many other things about North Dakota.

The club will meet at the home of Mrs. J. W. Curran, Dec. 17. This will be in the nature of a Christmas frolic and gifts will be distributed from a tree.

Auction Sale Is Jolly Occasion

The parcel auction held by members of the B. & F. W. club at their club rooms last evening proved a jolly occasion for the large crowd attending.

Miss Mary Huber as auctioneer showed herself to be an excellent auctioneer, keeping her audience in gales of laughter while she sold them the numerous parcels. The funds obtained in this way will be used for running expenses of the club.

Miss Hazel Pierce acted as chairman of the December committee in place of Mrs. Anna Nielson who is ill. Assisting her were Misses Frances Smalls, Ruth Rowley, Dorothy Blanding and Mrs. C. A. Storch. At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served. At the next meeting of the club Tuesday, Dec. 11, at 8:15 o'clock, dinner at the club rooms will be served. This will be followed by a short business session.

D. A. R. MONTHLY BANQUET

The regular monthly meeting of the Minnehaha chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution will take place at the McManis hotel Friday, Dec. 7 when they hold their 1 o'clock luncheon. At this time review of the national committee of the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be given by Mrs. D. T. Owens, Mrs. W. W. Moore, and Miss Madge Raney, who will be hostesses for the occasion.

P. E. O. MEETING

Mrs. Lulu E. Harris was hostess at the regular meeting of the P. E. O. chapter yesterday afternoon. Roll call was responded to with brief reports on American composers by all members of the sisterhood. "Women in Music and Drama" was discussed by Mrs. Elizabeth D. Schoelkopf. The last number on the program was a discussion of the subject of music by members.

Pretty Frocks for Young Girls Made of Two Kinds of Material

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

What has become of "the awkward age"? Little Miss America, in her early teens or entering them, is about to prove the title an undeserved one. But it is because she has allies to aid and abet her in the cause of gracefulness. She may still have sharp angles and legs, arms and hands that are hard to dispose of—but those clever designers who take care of her apparel have made her adorable in frocks and coats, hats and shoes that tend to efface them. The youthful school girl, shy and praiseworthy, is an appealing picture in the right kind of clothes.

Here is a pretty frock for girls from ten to fifteen, that is worth considering, and so are the shoes, stockings and hairdress shown with it. It is made of two kinds of material, which may be a wool or silk crepe bodice, and a skirt of jersey, velvet or any suitably heavy fabric in plain, plaid or checked pattern. The bodice is straight and full enough to soften any angles, and the skirt is still fuller. This is gathered to the bodice with an up-standing frill, faced with the material of the bodice, and prettily finished with ornaments and ends of silk cord ending in colored beads and silk tassels. The fullness of the skirt and the frill about its top break a line that is sometimes "skippy." The round neck is upper one, in this instance, like the skirt and the elbow sleeves have turn-back cuffs faced with the material of the skirt. But for neck and sleeve finishing, designers are partial to washable colors and cuffs that may be taken off, and they are made of pongee, linen, embroidered batiste or lace. Keeping them fresh and clean, helps to educate their young wearers in the matter of personal daintiness—more essential than any other feminine charm.

The woolen stockings, bloomers and sandals pictured are all noteworthy, good points in the ensemble and those shining curls have endeared themselves to us through generations of young girlhood.

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

by the Misses Olga Stein and Myrtle Leet, at 923 Seventh Street, Thursday evening, December 6th, at eight o'clock. All members are urgently requested to be present, and all finished work must be turned in at this meeting.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD By NELLIE MAXWELL

FRUIT DISHES

THE BANANA is a fruit always found in the ordinary market. It is delicious served fresh or cooked, and often adds a touch of flavor to a dish, taking it out of the ordinary class of plain foods.

Baked Bananas.—Take one-half cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of starch, one-half teaspoonful of salt; mix well and stir this mixture into a cupful of boiling water and cook until thick from any raw starch taste. Add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of grape jelly and, when blended, pour this sauce into a buttered baking dish. Cover with a half-cupful of crumbs and bake until the bananas well softened.

Breakfast Fried Apples.—Core, after washing and wiping dry, four large apples; slice in quarter-inch slices, without removing the skins. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a hot frying pan; put in the apples and cover immediately. Cook briskly for a few minutes, then turn over with a broad spatula. When the apples are soft and well cooked, sprinkle lightly with sugar and brown. Cinnamon may be added if liked. Serve hot with breakfast bacon or sausage.

Piquante Cocktail.—Take one cupful of canned cherries, three tablespoonfuls of candied ginger, chopped, one-half cupful each of powdered sugar and orange juice, one-third of a cupful of grapefruit juice and one cupful of canned pears cut in cubes. Place the fruit in cocktail glasses and pour the juice over it. Sprinkle each glass with a half-tablespoonful of chopped ginger.

Baked Apples with Bananas.—Take six large apples, one cupful of strained honey, one tablespoonful of butter, one and one-half bananas and six marshmallows. Wipe, core and peel the apples. Place them in a saucepan with the honey and butter. Simmer, turning often to cook until tender, but not long enough to lose their shape. Remove to a casserole and insert a quarter of a banana in each cavity made by the core. Place a marshmallow on top and bake in a quick oven long enough to melt and brown the marshmallows. Serve at once.

"Covered Wagon," Great Spectacle Coming Here

A new film spectacle, "The Covered Wagon," has lately jumped into the lead of all motion pictures that are now, or ever have been, presented upon the screen. Taken from the novel of the late Emerson Hough, it is being successfully presented by more than a dozen touring companies, all playing first class theatres only.

"The Covered Wagon" as a screen offering achieves what Mr. Hough so eloquently set forth in his book. It illustrates the doggedness, the courage, the sacrifices of those stout hearted folks who left the farms and cities of the East and Middle West, to plunge into the untracked vastness of the far West, and thus opened up for the United States an empire of territory and wealth. It helps to immortalize a race of Americans too often forgotten in the swirl of today's problems and strivings, and to see it makes you glad you are an American. Many thrilling and remarkable scenes are depicted with great clarity and attention to detail.

Perhaps one of the most intense in the crossing of the North Fork of the Platte River, when the wagons, their boxes caked and with logs strapped to their sides, are drawn across the broad stream by swimming oxen and horses. Other superb scenes are the "Indian attack on the Wagon Train," "The Prairie Fire," the scene at Fort Bridger and the parting of the train west of Fort Hall, when men desert the Oregon Trail for the newly discovered gold fields of California. The love of Molly Wingate and Will Banion and the villainy of Sam Woodhull Banion's rival, form the theme of the romance. Rescues of Molly from danger, fights between the two seekers after her hand, battles with hunters and the elements and combats with Indians punctuate the trek westward. This gigantic spectacle, accompanied by a 15 piece orchestra, will be offered at the Auditorium theatre.

"MAYORING" NO WOMAN'S JOB BUT SHE IS SUCCESS AT IT

By NEA Service.
Salina, Utah, Dec. 5.—No widow pays for city water in this town. No home lacks happiness for want of coal or groceries.

Bootleggers are so scarce prohibition agents never waste their time stopping off.

Last Christmas this town of 1,500 raised $500 for the poor. Five caroling troops made rounds of the community during the holidays.

In two years there has been one case of a girl smoking cigarettes. It was at a party and "she" heard about it.

The "she" is Mayor Stena Scorp, club woman, school teacher, tall and blond.

Miss Scorp is Utah's only woman mayor now completing her first term of office and, trust her, her last. Her successor will take office Jan. 1.

Oh, no! Not that the people of this town have written finis to Mayor Scorp's political career, nor that "her honor" is afraid she couldn't make it a second time. It's just because there are some things about "mayoring" that don't appeal to this tall, efficient-looking woman and well, she likes teaching school better.

Let George Do It.
This business of being mayor is no woman's job, if you hearken to Miss Scorp.

"Possibly you know how dull things get to be in a farming community and I thought the race for mayor would break the monotony," is the way she tries to excuse her participation in politics. "Really I don't enjoy work as it was, but my friends urged me to go in and make the race."

Mayor Scorp is too modest to mention that she ran against her brother, E. C. Scorp, who has been city councilman for years, and beat him by 14 votes.

"I do not mean to say," after carefully explaining she did not want the office another term, "that a woman is not as good an executive as a man. I presided over meetings of five men and got along just beautifully, but I couldn't understand water mains, or irrigation ditches or paving and didn't care much whether I understood them or not."

But there were other avenues of municipal endeavor which Mayor Scorp did understand.

Moral Cleaning.
Since this woman has been presiding at the city hall, Salina has been given about the stiffest housecleaning morally that a town ever has had.

Her mayorship put smoking by juveniles under ban and it remained there. On her order the city marshal not only arrested every boy under 18 who was caught smoking, but he put the official bee on those not yet 21. The marshal not only "pinched" them once, but he kept right on doing so until smoking in public by "nearly" voters had ceased.

Mayor Scorp went to the heart of the amusement hall problem by making the managers responsible for what happened there. "Check-to-check" dancing went into the forbidden class, as well as all other forms of objectionable terpsichore. Orchestra leaders were notified to put the soft panel on jazz.

Objectionable motion pictures were censored entirely out of town.

Bootleggers, too, found a determined adversary in her. They smiled at first, paid their fines and went on selling moonshine. Then they were

Kiwanis Club Gives Ladies Night Banquet

The first Ladies night held by the Bismarck Kiwanis club since the presentation of the charter to the organization proved an enjoyable occasion. The evening opened with a banquet at the McKenzies hotel at 8 p. m. Misses Eula and Aileen Cameron, little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Cameron, presented the ladies with favors and Spencer Boiseed in group singing. "President" Cameron of the club and A. A. Jones presided at the membership prize drawing. The ladies prize, a corsage bouquet given by the club, went to Mrs. J. C. Beck and the men's prize, given by F. L. Moulie, was won in the drawing by J. P. Wagner. J. P. Wagner of the First Guaranty Bank and Verne Miller of the Benson Optical Company were introduced as new members of the organization.

President Cameron introduced Governor Nestos as the speaker of the evening. Governor Nestos gave a chronological account of his recent visit to New York in an effort to "sell" North Dakota to the skeptics of the east. The club members enjoyed the Governor's recital of the various means used on the trip to reach and overcome sources of opposition to North Dakota and to dispel false beliefs concerning the state. He told of the surprise expressed by many when the true facts about North Dakota were presented to them and cited instances to show a changed attitude upon the part of people of power toward the state.

Dancing in the hotel dining room followed the dinner.

Woman's Club Has Meeting

The Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. H. F. Keller Monday when a fine program was given. Responses to roll call were made interesting, each member being prepared to talk on one of the following subjects: New plays, foreign affairs, inventions, social services, North Dakota, education, child welfare, science, art, new fiction, domestic politics, and filmdom.

The club members were assigned one of these topics each for the year and by this method all current topics are brought up at each meeting. Mrs. A. C. Wilkinson gave an interesting paper on "Elizabethan Prose." Mrs. H. L. Wheeler presented "The Monroe Doctrine as it Pertains to Present International Relations."

The material which Miss Bertha Palmer has gathered for the North Dakota club is being used at the meetings. This is an art collection and gives much valuable information as to the legends, resources, industries, and many other things about North Dakota.

The club will meet at the home of Mrs. J. W. Curran, Dec. 17. This will be in the nature of a Christmas frolic and gifts will be distributed from a tree.

Auction Sale Is Jolly Occasion

The parcel auction held by members of the B. & P. W. club at their club rooms last evening proved a jolly occasion for the large crowd attending.

Miss Mary Huber as auctioneer showed herself to be an excellent auctioneer, leading her audience in gales of laughter while she sold them the numerous parcels. The funds obtained in this way will be used for running expenses of the club.

Miss Hazel Pierce acted as chairman of the December committee in place of Mrs. Anna Nielson who is ill. Assisting her were Misses Frances Smeltz, Ruth Rowley, Dorothy Bland and Mrs. C. A. Slorby. At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served. At the next meeting of the club Tuesday, Dec. 11 at 6:15 o'clock, dinner at the club rooms will be served. This will be followed by a short business session.

D. A. R. MONTHLY BANQUET
The regular monthly meeting of the Minnehaha chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution will take place at the McKenzies hotel Friday, Dec. 7 when they hold their 1 o'clock luncheon. At this time review of the national committee of the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be given by Mrs. D. T. Owens, Mrs. W. W. Moyer, and Miss Madge Raney, who will be hostesses for the occasion.

P. E. O. MEETING
Mrs. Lulu E. Harris was hostess at the regular meeting of the P. E. O. chapter yesterday afternoon. Roll call was responded to with brief reports on American composers by all members of the sisterhood. "Women in Music and Drama" was discussed by Mrs. Elizabeth D. Schoelkopf. The last number on the program was a discussion of the subject of music by members.

PRESBYTERIAN LADIES AID
The regular business and social meeting of the Ladies aid society of the Presbyterian church will be held tomorrow afternoon at the church parlors. All ladies of the church are urged to come early and to bring needle and thimbles as this is the last work before the annual sale and turkey supper to be given, Tuesday, Dec. 11. The ladies in charge will serve refreshments.

MEET AT PARISH HOUSE
The board of vestry canvassers of St. Georges church will meet Thursday evening at 8 p. m. at the Parish house to sum up the results of the canvass.

Pretty Frocks for Young Girls Made of Two Kinds of Material

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

What has become of "the awkward age"? Little Miss America, in her early teens or entering them, is about to prove the title an undesired one. But it is because she has allies to aid and abet her in the cause of gracefulness. She may still have sharp angles, and legs and arms and hands that are hard to dispose of—but those clever designers who take care of her apparel have made her adorable in frocks and coats, hats and shoes that tend to efface them. The youthful school girl, shy and prankish, is an appealing picture in the right kind of clothes.

Here is a pretty frock for girls from ten to fifteen, that is worth considering, and so are the shoes, stockings and hairdress shown with it. It is made of two kinds of material, which may be a wool or silk crepe bodice, and a skirt of jersey, velvet or any suitably heavy fabric in plain, plaid or checked pattern. The bodice is straight and full enough to soften any angles, and the skirt is still fuller. This is gathered to the bodice with an up-standing frill, faced with the material of the bodice, and prettily finished with ornaments and ends of silk cord ending in colored beads and silk tassels. The fullness of the skirt and the frill about its top break a line that is sometimes "skippy." The round neck is finished with two seam frills, the upper one, in this instance, like the skirt and the elbow sleeves have turn-back cuffs faced with the material of the skirt. But for neck and sleeve finishings, designers are partial to washable colors and cuffs that may be taken off, and they are made of pongee, linen, embroidered batiste or lace. Keeping them fresh and clean, helps to educate their young wearers in the matter of personal neatness—more essential than any other feminine charm.

The woolen stockings, bloomers and sandals pictured are all noteworthy, good points in the ensemble and those shining curls have endeared themselves to us through generations of young girlhood.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL

FRUIT DISHES

THE BANANA is a fruit always found in the ordinary market. It is delicious served fresh or cooked, and often adds a touch of flavor to a dish, taking it out of the ordinary class of plain foods.

Baked Bananas.—Take one-half cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of starch, one-half teaspoonful of salt; mix well and stir this mixture into a cupful of boiling water and cook until free from any raw, starchy taste. Add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of grape jelly and, when blended, pour this sauce into a buttered baking dish. Cover with a half-cupful of crumbs and bake until the buttered crumbs are brown and the bananas well softened.

Breakfast Fried Apples.—Core, after washing and wiping dry, four large apples; slice in quarter-inch slices, without removing the skins. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a hot frying pan; put in the apples and fry for a few minutes, then turn over with a broad spatula. When the apples are soft and well cooked, sprinkle lightly with sugar and brown. Cinnamon may be added if liked. Serve hot with breakfast bacon or sausages.

Piquante Cocktail.—Take one cupful of canned cherries, three tablespoonfuls of candied ginger, chopped, one-half cupful each of powdered sugar and orange juice, one-third of a cupful of grapefruit juice and one cupful of canned pears cut in cubes. Place the fruit in cocktail glasses and pour the juice over it. Sprinkle each glass with a half-tablespoonful of chopped ginger.

Baked Apples with Bananas.—Take six large apples, one cupful of strained honey, one tablespoonful of butter, one and one-half bananas and six marshmallows. Wipe, core and peel the apples. Place them in a saucepan with the honey and butter. Simmer, turning often to cook until tender, but not long enough to lose their shape. Remove to a casserole and insert a quarter of a banana in each cavity made by the core. Place a marshmallow on top and bake in a quick oven long enough to puff and brown the marshmallows. Serve at once.

Her mayorship put smoking by juveniles under ban and it remained there. On her orders the city marshal not only arrested every boy under 18 who was caught smoking, but he put the official bee on those not yet 21. The marshal not only "pinched" them once, but he kept right on doing so until smoking in public by "nearly" voters had ceased.

Mayor Scourup went to the heart of the amiable motion picture problem by making the managers responsible for what happened there. "Check-to-check" dancing went into the forbidden class, as well as all other forms of objectionable terpsichore.

Orchestra leaders were notified to put the soft pedal on jazz.

Objectionable motion pictures were censored entirely out of town.

Bootleggers, too, found a determined adversary in her. They smiled at first, paid their fines and went on selling moonshine. Then they were

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
 (Established 1873)

ATTEND YOUR MEETING
 The annual meeting of the Association of Commerce is to be held tonight at the City Auditorium. It is a meeting for every citizen of Bismarck, and the Association has invited all, whether members of the organization or not. It is a meeting to renew faith in Bismarck and North Dakota. Let us hope that a crowded auditorium will testify to the growing civic spirit of Bismarck and the faith of its citizens in the city.

ANYTHING TO WIN
 Congress is facing an unparalleled experience. A little group of self-styled progressives have conspired to block the organization of the new Congress. Though professed believers in majority rule they are blocking the recognized majority party in Congress in its effort to provide working machinery for the sixty-eighth session. They are boring within, with a hope of weakening the structure of the great majority organization so that it may ultimately crumble. There is no hope of real success for any principles which the little group advocates in keeping Congress in idleness and the President waiting at the capitol for an opportunity to deliver his message.

It is to be hoped that the majority will find a means of victory in the organization of the national legislature without sacrificing the party tenets. It is to be hoped that the Republicans will agree upon a platform of constructive legislation, with the wise counsel of President Coolidge, and place it before the country without the least equivocation. With spurious organizations of various sorts offering destructive criticism and fanciful remedies for ills of the nation which can be met only by a sound and constructive platform, the Republicans in Congress have before them an opportunity to once more prove to the nation that the party, which has led the country in its progress of the last several decades, still is virile, able and unafraid.

MISS TARABAI
 A Hindu woman, said to be stronger than Sandow, is the theatrical sensation in the orient. She Miss Tarabai, 30 years old, born in Rajputana.

One of her stunts is to bridge herself in the air, with feet on the back of one chair and neck on another, and allow two men to pound with sledgehammers on a 250-pound stone resting on her chest.

This is a favorite trick of hypnotists—demonstration might be a better word than trick.

It suggests that Miss Tarabai may perform in a condition of self-hypnotism—auto-hypnosis.

Strength, after all, is more in the will power and imagination than in the muscles, nerves and glands. This is proved frequently around insane asylums when it requires half a dozen men to subdue a frail little woman-patient during maniacal frenzy.

In fighting our way to success, natural ability and influence are excellent helps. But they are not indispensable. Any one can accomplish almost anything if he has the will and the imagination (self-hypnotism) to make himself believe he has the necessary powers.

Without self-confidence, there can be no victory. That's why men of exceptional ability so often lose out.

Confidence in self is fully as important as will power (determination), possibly more so. Carried to extremes, it becomes ridiculous—conceit. But self-confidence, held in bounds, is a short-cut to success.

Encourage children when they talk of the tremendous things they are going to accomplish later. If they continue believing, they'll probably turn imagination into fact. Ridiculing a child destroys his ambition and powers of accomplishment at the roots.

LIFE IN TROPICS

Evolution of man could never have taken place in the tropics, says Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of expedition trying to locate the cradle of the human race in Mongolia.

He reasons that life in the tropics is too easy, and men get "soft" unless they have to scurry around and work hard for a living. Progress comes only by meeting and conquering obstacles.

Obstacles should dismay no one. They are sent to "bring out" our powers—to develop our potential abilities. Championship is won gradually, by many preliminary fights, rather than by the final bout.

IGNORANT DEMOCRACY PREFERABLE

The funniest letter ever received at the White House was addressed to President Grover Cleveland, writes Professor Robert McElroy of Princeton. The letter:

"Dear sir—I am a young man wick I would like to better my self. The business I am at is Junk business, but I would rather have the business in the govtment, either in the Cabinet or as watchman."

Not many, like this letter writer, get into public office. But plenty of them help decide the elections. However, ignorant democracy is preferable to the most intelligent monarchy, according to American philosophy.

LIMITING SALE

A couple of boy bandits shoot a policeman in an eastern city. A wise judge comments: "There should be a law making the person who sells a gun to a minor, through the mails, responsible for any damage done. All these boy robbers got their guns through the mails."

Why limit the sale only as regards minors? Youth then would do its pistol ordering through older crooks. The real solution is to stop the sale of revolvers altogether. It would be effective if the penalty for possessing a pistol were stiff enough—say, 20 years, with no mush-hearted parole board to interfere.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

GOOD NEWS FROM NORTH DAKOTA

"Our cream checks have doubled in the past year," a farmer from Bottineau county, N. D., told members of the Interstate Commerce commission at railroad rate hearing. That statement speaks volumes for diversified farming and also for North Dakota's farming possibilities. He said one good crop will pay 25 per cent of the farmers' debts. The witness, George Siderman of Lakewood, said he planted 37 acres in corn and 300 in wheat and made a profit on the wheat, as well as on the corn. Bottineau county is on the north central border of North Dakota, with little rivers that flow northward into Canada. In the past it was a hotbed of speculation, but it is now a hotbed of grain. The grasshoppers ate the crops or the sun burned them up, as Mr. Siderman mentioned. Yet in the floodtide of war prosperity, some of the farmers borrowed large sums of money to buy more land and used their cash to spend the winter in California. Mr. Siderman owned much of the discontent of the past to homesteaders who did not intend to live on the land they took up, but to speculate in it. If they took a gambler's chance and lost, they were unfortunate, but it is hard to see that such persons have any grievance, or any right to represent themselves as oppressed farmers.

While advocating diversified farming, the witness gave facts which prove that the change from one-crop cultivation or all grain farming is seriously handicapped by our unwise federal taxation system. It takes money to make the change, but the interest rate in Bottineau county is 10 per cent. The local banker has to go outside the county or the state to get loanable funds, paying 6 or 7 per cent. He must get 2 per cent to cover expenses, besides losses on defaulted loans. At 10 per cent, he has a very small margin. The excess profits taxes and heavy income surtaxes drive capital out of the farm loan field into tax exempt and help to keep the farm loan rate high.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

FORD, THAT'S ALL

A stroke of political genius must be credited to Mr. Robert F. Pointer of Dearborn. "A lifelong friend of Mr. Ford," he has solved in a flash the great problem how Henry Ford shall run for the Presidency. Others have debated whether the great manufacturer should be nominated by the Republicans or the Democrats; whether he ought to lead the Farmer-Labor Party, or the Prohibitionists, or the Socialists, or the Single-Taxers, or the Non-Partisan League, or what might be called the Scrap-Basket Party now in process of organization by the irrepressible Mr. Hopkins, who is all that is left of the once formidable Forty-eight. All these hesitations and doubts are brushed aside by Mr. Pointer, who announces the plan to name Mr. Ford as the representative of no party and no platform, and get out of the platform entirely by surrey of the inspiration. The country, wearied of misleading declarations of principle, and tired of promises only made to be broken, may be expected to rise with enthusiasm to follow a political banner which has sole inspiration in "My Dear Ford, the Questions Asked or Answered."

This ingenious method would also save the candidate, if he should become one, a lot of embarrassment. He is unfortunately on record with a number of "views." Some of these he has put into words, others are committed in actions of his which speak louder than words. To get them all, or even a part of them, into a single platform would be too much for the skill of even the most adroit political carpenter. Some of them, if reaffirmed, would make it impossible for Ford to accept the nomination of any existing party, or of any conceivable party. Hence the brilliancy of the suggestion to pitch all this rubbish out of the window and accept Mr. Ford for his own true worth without any pretense that he is a far-belowed leader. Mr. Pointer explains that in no case would Mr. Ford sign his name on any dotted line either before or after his nomination. That noble stand would take him into the campaign as a refreshing novelty. All that his advocates would have to do is to ask where the candidate came from would be to get rid of all the old heroes about Appomattox and the apple tree, and point to the millions of farmers covering this broad land. After that, everything would be over except the cranking, the self-starting and the rattling of innumerable Tin Lizzies.—New York Times.

REDUCTION OF TAXATION
WILL NOT CURTAIL FEDERAL ACTIVITIES

Copyright, 1923, by National Budget Committee

IN the current discussion of the proposals which the Secretary of the Treasury, Mellon, makes for a reduction in the general burden of taxation, it is important that the real choice which the people have to make should be kept constantly in mind. There is no great difficulty in doing this, but as in all discussions which are approachable from many points of view, there is a danger that attention will be directed to subsidiary matters rather than to the idea which is central to the whole proposition. The essential proposition will be more clearly defined if the assumptions upon which Mr. Mellon's suggestions are based are clearly understood. The first of these is that present methods of efficiency and economy in the management of the Government business are sound. There must be no return to slipshod, wasteful methods in administering the ordinary operations of the Government. In concluding that there will be a surplus of receipts over expenditures during the next few years, Mr. Mellon and his assistants have taken it for granted that there will be some increase in Government activities. They do not propose to say that henceforth from this particular moment our Government shall cease to have its natural growth as an institution whose purpose is to serve the people. They have allowed for such growth in their calculations, but have doubtless figured that the cost of this growth will be less than in the past by reason of the constant application of better business methods. The decision therefore which is to be made with respect to the disposal of the surplus does not affect the natural expansion of Government activities. The proposed reduction of $332,000,000 in taxes can be made without curtailing present activities or refusing to undertake new ones which are really essential. Another assumption is that there shall continue to be included in the estimated expenditures for each year an amount sufficient to insure an appreciable annual reduction in the total of the debt. The proposed reduction in the total of the debt can be made despite the fact that $500,000,000 or more will be applied each year to the liquidation of this indebtedness to the American people. Our people are not asked to forego payment of interest on the bonds and notes which they hold in order that their tax bills may be reduced. They are to continue to receive Government payments while contributing less to the support of that Government. Not only that, but sinking fund charges and other allotments of receipts are to reduce the principal of the public debt. Assured then of continued efficient service from the Government and of regular payment of interest, along with actual reduction of the debt total, the choice of the people lies entirely between a reduction of taxation and an extraordinary increase in the cost of Government. The question is simply whether we will have a number of new things done for us by the Government which are not imperatively necessary, or whether we prefer a substantial reduction in that part of our incomes which we now have to pay to the revenue collector.

The Tangle

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

"You poor, poor dear," said Ruth, coming over to me. "What has that terrible woman been saying to you? You are all in a fever."

Instead of answering I asked, "What do you think of 'Trumping His Heart'?"

"It is a very wonderful picture," "Do you think it is Paula Perier's life?"

"I have no right to think about it in any way," she said impatiently. "I get so tired, Leslie, when a woman writes a book or a play or a scenario for a picture, of having everybody say that she has put the experiences of her own life in it—particularly if those experiences have a sexual tinge. I suppose it is because in the old days we deluded ourselves into thinking that women were sexless as far as their thoughts were concerned. What hypocrites we all were. We had to cry 'Wolf'—the moment a woman was brave enough to come out and write a story or a play which made the heroine a human being."

"'Trumping His Heart' is the most human picture I've seen lately but one has no right to say, unless one knows Paula, Perier better than I—and certainly better than Mrs. Smithson—that it is anything more than an artistic fiction. Did she tell you the story?"

"Yes, and she intimated that everyone in Albany was saying that the hero was Jack."

"Perfectly ridiculous! Of course I am not holding any particular brief for Jack or any other man. I couldn't with my past experience, but it just happens, my dear, that you have adopted a baby that was put on your doorstep and that Jack knows Paula."

Perier. But nearly every man in town who loved beauty and liked to be seen with a pretty girl knew her. No one knows that Paula Perier has had a baby, consequently it is absolutely malicious to make up a story of this kind.

"I oftentimes wonder, Leslie, if these scandal mongers ever remember that the commandment, 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor,' is quite as binding on human beings as 'Thou shalt not commit adultery.'"

"Ruth, you are a dear girl. You see things so clearly."

"I am only using common sense, that's all Leslie. Will you tell Jack for me that I want him to take up both if you are well-enough, after tomorrow night to see the picture."

"But—but Ruth—"

"I must go now, dear. When I come in the morning he wearing your new negligee."

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

This was the Riddle Lady's next riddle. Nancy and Nick listened carefully to every word she said: "Rub-a-dub-dub, rub-a-dub-dub! I'm flat as a penny and round as a tub."

I haven't a hand and I never had feet. Yet I'm commonly seen out parading the street.

"Ring-a-ding-ding, ring-a-ding-ding! Everyone likes me from podder to king."

I boom a loud greeting whenever I pass. In thunderous tones that no one can surpass.

"My jacket is wool and lined up to my chin. And I've heard that my head's put a piece of sheep's skin. Perhaps that's the reason I have to be hoarse."

To me as empty inside as a hollow balloon. And my features resemble a round harvest moon.

But I've led men to battle 'midst the roaring and the gun, And lifting my voice, I've cheered them to win.

"Santa packs me on Christmas with all of his toys. And takes me down chimney for one of the boys."

He hangs me low down on the big Christmas tree, With two sticks right near me where Johnny can see.

"Bat-a-tat-tat, a rat-a-tat-tat! I hang round your neck like a bulky cravat. I'm not big like Jack's giant nor small as Tom Thumb."

"Is it a horn?" yawned little Boy Blue, who had stopped over in Riddle Town on his way home from the hay-field.

"No," said the Riddle Lady. "What makes you think that?"

"Well, it's round and hollow and makes a noise and leads soldiers to war!"

"That's so," acknowledged the Riddle Lady. "I should have made it clearer."

"But a horn doesn't have to be beaten!" declared Nick. "And this does."

"That's right," said the Riddle Lady. "Then the riddle is all right after all."

"I know what it is," said Nick suddenly. "It's a drum!"

"Right," exclaimed the Riddle Lady brightly. "And that's the prize! A drum with red and blue lacings and yellow varnished sides. And she hung it round his neck."

"Hurrah for Nick!" shouted all the good-natured Riddle-landers, not a bit jealous of his luck.

And yet I wonder what on earth the Old-Shoe Woman or Tuffy Weismann or the Baker's Man would have done with it had they won it. But still! The Old-Shoe Woman would probably have given it to one of her children.

Piles Can Be Cured Without Surgery

An instructive book has been published by Dr. A. F. McCleary, the noted rectal specialist of Kansas City. This book tells how sufferers from Piles can be quickly and easily cured without the use of knife, seissors, "hot" iron, electricity or any other cutting or burning method, without confinement to bed and no hospital bills to pay. The method has been a success for twenty-four years and in more than eight thousand cases. The book is sent postpaid free to persons afflicted with piles or other rectal troubles who clip this item and mail it with name and address to Dr. McCleary, 2545 Parkview Sanitarium, Kansas City, Mo.

The dance was set last evening for the annual dancing party of the lodge for the members and their families and lady friends. The dance will be held Friday evening, December 7 at the Elks hall.

The Kiwanis club at their meeting last evening took up for consideration the problem of improvements for civic organizations of Mandan.

It was pointed out that a committee composed of members from the various organizations to co-operate in this plan would be the most desirable. At the time of the Mandan Round-up, this manner of co-operation was successfully used.

At the meeting of the Mandan Town Grievance club it was voted that an early start be made on plans for the second annual Round-up in 1924. A meeting of the executive committee will be held the first of the year.

LEGION PLAY SOMETHING NEW

Harlequinade Dancers and Others Being Drilled Steadily

Something decidedly new awaits Bismarck theater-goers in "Oh, Oh, Cindy!" the extravaganza extraordinary which is to be presented at the auditorium under the auspices of the American Legion, Dec. 11 and 12.

We have been hearing much of "Oh, Oh, Cindy!" and the stories aroused our curiosity. Here is the story of what is going on at rehearsals as told by an eye-witness:

When I arrived at the Legion club rooms the first thing that I noticed was the sound of a piano playing, stopping, repeating. Someone was counting "one, two, three, four—whirl; now again, one, two, three—side-step." I opened the door and walked in.

"In the center of the room was a group of young ladies practicing one of the dances," said Marie Richter, the professional director, sent here by the John B. Rogers Producing Co. was standing before them demonstrating some sort of step or other.

Among the harlequinade dancers were the following: Ruth Rawlings, Louise Bernat, Audrey Flow, Helen Anstist, Dorothy Keller, Louise Keller, Shirley Penner, Jane Byrne, Grace Ella Manger, Gwen Jensen, Jessie McDonald, Annie Katz.

"About the sides of the room were gathered groups of people who are members of the cast or choruses, some were talking softly, while others were studying their parts. Everywhere there was an air of business, a something which pointed to a definite end or purpose.

"I stayed there until the end of the rehearsal but with little idea of what the final result will be. I am sure there will be dances—a profusion of them. Then, too, I know there will be good singing, and the songs are clever and musical. The lines of the libretto are among the funniest that I have ever heard in any production. As to the rest—I cannot say. In my opinion it will be 'some' show."

the development of a most important resource of the state.

Rotarians expressed themselves as with the lignite operators in their campaign not alone to protect their own industry but to stimulate industrial growth in the state and to fight for the principle of fair play for western products.

Former Gov. Hanna spoke briefly and expressed himself in full accord with Major Washburn. He emphasized the necessity for diversification not only for the farmer but for all industrial life in the state. He called attention to his messages as governor in 1913 and 1915 when he asked that a business agent be named for North Dakota who could attract capital and advertise the latent resources of the state more especially the coal, clay and straw. He declared that the finest clay in the world could be found here and that it all the state pulled together much could be done to increase the prosperity of the state.

Mr. Hanna complained of the failure of the Intermediate Credit Bank to give relief to North Dakota and criticized some of the methods employed by the officials of this institution. He said there should be the closest cooperation on the part of the business men and every agency to keep every bank functioning in the state until the present situation was safely passed.

Two birthdays were commemorated by Rotarians. Dr. Branes gave an interesting sketch of Dr. Rawlings and presented him with a fitting gift. Mr. Bubitz, principal of the Bismarck High school threw some sidelights upon the life and character of Roy Bonham and concluded his remarks with a presentation of a suitable memento of the occasion.

Dr. Rawlings gave a short address on Rotary ethics as applied to the peace needs of the world, advocating

OWN SONS ALMOST COULD ELECT HIM

Mayor A. V. Fawcett of Tacoma, Wash., has a family nearly large enough to swing an election in his favor. He has eight sons ranging from 19 to 42 years old. Papa Fawcett, almost 60 octogenarian, boasts he is the only Civil War veteran running the affairs of a city of more than 100,000 population and challenges the world's mayors to beat his number of sons.

George Duemeland was the presiding officer of the day who shared the honors of arranging the program with George Will. Attendance of the club for the month was 24,97 percent.

Guest in addition to the Jamestown delegation were: L. B. Hanna, Maj. Stanley Washburn, Jas. J. McGrath, J. J. Lee, S. J. Doyle, Fargo; Fred Sheffield, Fargo; L. Roy Baird, Dickinson; O. F. Woodrich, Minneapolis.

BANKS CLOSE
The First State Bank of Benedict, McClean county, has been closed. It had capital stock of $10,000, surplus of $5,000 and deposits of $85,000.

The First State Bank of Russell, Bottineau county, also has been closed, according to information at the state banking department. It had capital of $25,000, surplus of $5,000 and deposits of $65,000. It is considered likely that a big dividend will be made to depositors of this bank very soon.

ANAMOOSE RESIDENT DIES
Elgin, North Dakota, December 5.—On Thanksgiving evening occurred

the death of Mrs. J. H. Mantz of Anamoose, who had been suffering for a short time from hemorrhage of the brain. Mrs. Mantz and an older brother came in the eighties to North Dakota and homesteaded land near Anamoose, where she has resided ever since. She was married to J. H. Mantz on September 15th, 1900 in Anamoose.

Funeral services were held this week.

Can Cochran Trim Hoppe?

Is Willie Hoppe to be dethroned again? The great billiard champion is to meet young Welker Cochran in a play off for the 18.2 balk line championship at Chicago, Dec. 17, 18, 19. In the recent championship proper, with all the leading cue wizards of the country competing, Hoppe and Cochran finished in a tie for the topmost laurels.

Hoppe has held the title continuously since 1912 with the exception of a brief lapse in 1921 when he relinquished the throne to Young Jake Schaefer.

Cochran is probably the most dangerous aspirant to Hoppe's crown at present. His record is noteworthy. In 1921 he compiled the 18.2 record run at 384. In the recent tournament he trimmed both Hoppe and Schaefer.

With an average of 31.1-4 he defeated Hoppe, 500 to 250. Against Schaefer he averaged 52.1-2 and scored 500 while the champion of 1921 was collecting 54.

The thing that kept Cochran from winning the title outright was his unexpected defeat at the cue of Hagenlocher. This match was played in the afternoon following Cochran's win over Hoppe the night before. Cochran said he was so worked up over his defeat of Hoppe that sleep would not come to him and against Hagenlocher he was unusually nervous.

MURDER CASES ARE ORPHANED

Two Courts Decline Jurisdiction, Prosecutor Is Disqualified

District court, which opened here yesterday, has three "orphan" murder cases on the criminal calendar. They are against Ennis Walter Taylor, Ira J. Stark and George Jeffrey jointly, on a charge of murdering M. K. Bowen, a Golden Valley rancher.

A fourth man, Bert Offley, declared by officials to have been the principal in the case, was tried for murder before a jury at Hettinger and acquitted. Subsequently the cases were transferred to Burleigh county and Judge Nusselt, then district judge, declined to assume jurisdiction. However, the papers remained here and the cases went on the court calendar. An effort was made to have the cases transferred back to Adams county, and the court also declined jurisdiction, because they had been transferred to Burleigh county, according to Attorney-General George Shafer.

Bowen, a rancher, was killed during an altercation. Politics was brought into the case during the height of the Nonpartisan League and Governor Frazier named a special assistant attorney-general, L. A. Simpson, of Dickinson, who prosecuted Offley under appointment by Gov. Frazier, has retired from the case. S. L. Nuebbels, also named by the state, said today he was out of the case. P. B. Garberg is the third attorney listed for the state.

Attorney-General Shafer, asked concerning the case, said that his administration had not been concerned with the case, but because the state's attorney of Golden Valley county is disqualified, some action probably will be taken.

Electricity from Windmill Takes Place of Coal

To generate electricity cheaply without using coal, because of a fuel scarcity and its consequent high cost, a European inventor has built a windmill that charges storage batteries. It is operating so successfully he is making eleven more. Mounted on a tower about 50 feet in height are big propellers that generate 40 horsepower in a moderate breeze and 70 in a strong wind. In a roundhouse on the ground, connected with the top by a shaft, are the generator and batteries.

Earth's Age Is "Set" at Two or Three Billion Years

After long investigation, scientists have announced that the earth has been in about its present state for two or three billion years. Geological measurements previously made were all lost in a maze of time before they had traced the history of the planets beyond 100,000,000 years. The present discovery rests on the rate by which radio-active substances change form. These materials are not permanent, but in time turn into lead.

Exhaust Gas Cook Stove for the Tourist

When equipped with a stove of the kind shown, the tourist does not have to worry about fuel for his stove, as his gasoline is also his fuel supply. The whole apparatus consists of pipe and fittings arranged so that it can be connected to the exhaust pipe of an automobile. The stove is made of several short lengths of pipe connected together by return elbows to form a hot plate. A cutout valve is inserted in the exhaust pipe at the point shown so that the stove can readily be attached and detached. It is, of course, necessary to provide a thick sheet of asbestos between the hot plate and the floorboards to prevent burning the latter. When the plate is not in use it is removed.

Hair Nets So Fine Machines Can't Make Them

Owing to the fine texture of human hair and the shortness of the strands, no machine has been invented that can knit delicate hair nets, so they must all be made by hand, says an eastern manufacturer. More than 95 per cent of the world's supply of this article is produced in the native homes of northern China, from where the hair is first shipped to the United States to be dyed and made sanitary by chemical process. It is then returned for knitting into nets. The strands are tied end to end to form one long string. This is wound on a shuttle which is worked round a bamboo stick or bodkin. The knots are fastened similar to those in fish nets and hand-mocks, and require skill created by years of practice. One net an hour is considered to be a good average for the ordinary worker.

Radio Receiver Held on Ear Without Head Brides

Fitting over the ear, a radio receiver is being made in Europe that does away with head bridges. It allows greater freedom of movement, yet is not uncomfortable, since its light weight is evenly distributed. As the ear is entirely enclosed in the device, with a cushion of air between it and the diaphragm, external noises are shut out, music and voices sound more natural, and the wearer can hear more distinctly. Sets of two are also being turned out.

Ashley Claims Cream Shipping Record For Town

Ashley, N. D., shipped 12,771 10 gallon cans of cream during the fiscal year ending Sept. 1, 1923, is for leader point in North Dakota for the shipment of cream. It is reported by The Ashley Tribune. The figures are based on a survey made by officials of the North Dakota Agricultural college at a reported. For this cream Ashley farmers received approximately $120,000, which explains, says the Ashley paper, why in this year of low prices wheat, is busier, as usual in Ashley. For the previous fiscal year an even greater amount, 14,698 cans of cream were shipped from Ashley, worth approximately $150,000. From the six grain elevators in Ashley, 183 cars of wheat of 1,200 bushels each had been shipped up to Nov 1 and it is believed the total of 300,000 bushels of wheat will be shipped this year in addition to the amount used at the Ashley flour mill. Steadily

Something decidedly new awaits Bismarck theater-goers in "On, On, Cindy!" the extravaganza extraordinary which is to be presented at the auditorium under the auspices of the American Legion, Dec. 11 and 12.

We have been hearing much of "On, On, Cindy!" and the stories around our curiosity. Here is the story of what is going on at rehearsals as told by an eye-witness:

When I arrived at the Legion club rooms the first thing that I noticed was the sound of a piano playing, stopping, repeating. Someone was counting, "one, two, three, four, five, now again, one, two, three, four, five." I opened the door and walked in.

"In the center of the room was a group of young ladies practicing one of the dances. Miss Marie Richter, the professional director, sent here by the John B. Rogers Producing Co. was standing before them demonstrating some sort of step or other.

Among the harlequinade dancers were the following: Ruth Rawlings, Louise Berndt, Audrey Flow, Helen Andrist, Dorothy Kellier, Louise Keller, Shirley Penner, Jane Byrne, Grace Ella Manger, Gwen Jensen, Jessie McDonald, Annie Katz.

About the sides of the room were gathered groups of people who are members of the cast or choruses, some were talking softly, while others were studying their parts. Everywhere there was an air of business, a something which pointed to a definite end or purpose.

"I stayed there until the end of the rehearsal but with little idea of what the final result will be. I am sure there will be dances—a profusion of them. Then, too, I know there will be good singing, and the songs are clever and musical. The lines of the libretto are among the funniest that I have ever heard in any production. As to the rest I cannot say. In my opinion it will be 'some' show."

the development of a most important resource of the state.

Rotarians expressed themselves as with the lignite operators in their campaign not alone to protect their own industry but to stimulate industrial growth in the state and to fight for the principle of fair play for western products.

Former Gov. Hanna spoke briefly and expressed himself in full accord with Major Washburn. He emphasized the necessity for diversification not only for the farmer but for all industrial life in the state. He called attention to his message as governor in 1913 and 1915 when he asked that a business agent be named for North Dakota who could attract capital and advertise the state's resources of the state more especially the coal, clay and straw. He declared that the finest clay in the world could be found here and that if all the state pulled together much could be done to increase the prosperity of the state.

Mr. Hanna complained of the failure of the Intermediate Credit Bank to give relief to North Dakota and criticized some of the methods employed by the officials of this institution. He said there should be the closest cooperation on the part of the business men and every agency to keep every bank functioning in the state until the present situation was safely passed.

Two birthdays were commemorated by Rotarians. Dr. Branes gave an interesting sketch of Dr. Rawlings and presented him with a fitting gift. Mr. Bubitz, principal of the Bismarck High school threw some sidelights upon the life and character of Roy Bonham and concluded his remarks with a presentation of a suitable memento of the occasion.

Dr. Rawlings gave a short address on Rotary ethics as applied to the peace needs of the world, advocating

Earth's Age Is "Set" at Two or Three Billion Years

After long investigation, scientists have announced that the earth has been in about its present state for two or three billion years. Geological measurements previously made were all lost in a maze of time before they had traced the history of the planets beyond 100,000,000 years. The present discovery rests on the rate by which radioactive substances change form. These materials are not permanent, but in time turn into lead.

Exhaust Gas Cook Stove for the Tourist

When equipped with a stove of the kind shown, the tourist does not have to worry about fuel for his stove, as his gasoline is also his fuel supply. The whole apparatus consists of pipe and fittings arranged so that it can be connected to the exhaust pipe of an automobile. The stove is made of several short lengths of pipe connected together by return elbows to form a hot plate. A cutout valve is inserted in the exhaust pipe at the point shown so that the stove can readily be attached and detached. It is, of course, necessary to provide a thick sheet of asbestos between the hot plate and the floorboards to prevent burning the latter. When the plate is not in use it is removed.

CAN COCHRAN TRIM HOPPE?

Is Willie Hoppe to be dethroned again?

The great billiard champion is to meet young Wilkes Cochran in a play off for the 182 record in a championship at Chicago, Dec. 17, 18, 19, the recent championship proper, with all the leading cue wizards of the country competing, Hoppe and Cochran finished in a tie for the topmost laurels.

Hoppe has held the title continuously since 1912 with the exception of a brief lapse in 1921 when he relinquished the throne to Young Jake Schaefer.

Cochran is probably the most dangerous aspirant to Hoppe's crown at present. His record is noteworthy. In 1921 he compiled the 182 record run at 384. In the recent tournament he trimmed both Hoppe and Schaefer.

With an average of 31.4 he defeated Hoppe, 500 to 200. Against Schaefer he averaged 52.1-2 and beat 500 while the champion of 1921 was collecting 54.

The thing that kept Cochran from winning the title outright was his unexpected defeat at the cue of Hagenlocher. This match was played in the afternoon following Cochran's win over Hoppe the night before. Cochran said he was so worked up over his defeat of Hoppe that sleep would not come to him and against Hagenlocher he was unusually nervous.

MURDER CASES ARE ORPHANED

Two Courts Decline Jurisdiction, Prosecutor Is Disqualified

District court, which opened here yesterday, has three "orphan" murder cases on the criminal calendar. They are against Ennis Walter Taylor, Ira J. Stark and George Jeffrey jointly, on a charge of murdering M. E. Bowen, a Golden Valley rancher.

A fourth man, Bert Offley, declared by officials to have been the principal in the case, was tried for murder before a jury at Hettinger and acquitted. Subsequently the cases were transferred to Burleigh county and Judge. Nusselt, then district judge, declined to assume jurisdiction. However, the papers remained here and the cases went on the court calendar. An effort was made to have the cases transferred back to Adams county, and the court also declined jurisdiction, because they had been transferred to Burleigh county, according to Attorney-General George Shafer.

Bowen, a rancher, was killed during an altercation. Politics was brought into the case during the height of the Nonpartisan League and Governor Frazier named a special assistant attorney-general, L. S. Simon of Dickinson, who prosecuted Offley under appointment by Gov. Frazier, has retired from the case. S. L. Nusselt, also named by the state, said today he was out of the case. P. B. Garberg is the third attorney listed for the state.

Attorney-General Shafer, asked concerning the case, said that his administration had not been concerned with the case but because the state's attorney of Golden Valley county is disqualified, some action probably will be taken.

LIGNITE BOOST IS DEFENDED

Railroad Claims Rates on Coal Abnormally Low

St. Paul, Dec. 5.—Present freight rates on lignite coal shipped from North Dakota are abnormally low and should be increased in justice to shippers of other commodities, said a statement issued here today under the signature of three Northwest railroads.

The statement, which was signed by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and the Soo Line was in reply to arguments made by representatives of the lignite mining industry in their application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for suspension of rates proposed on lines in this territory.

The commission has suspended the proposed increase until April.

The railroads contend that the present low rates are based on charges established in 1918. The statement says that the rates are actually and relatively lower than the rates charged for the transportation of coal in other states.

VANITY IS NOT REASON WOMEN TINT FACES

Its Their Response to Color
Impulse, Declares Harriet
Forbes, Jewel Expert

MEN FOSTER IT

BY MARIAN HALE,
NEA Service Writer.

New York, Dec. 5.—The reason some women make up their faces in deep ochres and mologany tones and others imitate the pink and cream hues of the peach is not, primarily, vanity. It's their way of responding to the color impulse.

This is the theory of Harriet Keith Forbes, jewel expert, who has a genius for putting every gem in its most artistic mounting, and who has delved into the history, chemistry and mineralogy of every known stone.

"This color impulse is manifesting itself in millinery, gowns, shoes, accessories and in jewelry," she says. "Women want more color around them, more on their faces, and in their lives. They are getting ready for a renaissance of beauty and goodness such as never has been experienced before."

"Women are learning to wear color more effectively, and are developing much more taste about their facial makeup. The time will come when every woman will work out her own color harmonies and her own personality colors, and then the problem of dressing will practically be solved."

No Puritan Heritage.
The color feeling and the present interest in it is not a heritage from our Mayflower ancestors or Puritan first families. It has been kept alive and aroused in us by the peasants of Czechoslovakia, Russian, Armenia and Italy who have come to our shores and revealed to us its possibilities, Miss Forbes thinks.

"The love of jewels and the jewelry craft has been fostered by men, not women," she went on. "Most men are innately fond of jewels and naturally want to bestow them upon the women they love. And they have taught women to care for gems."

"But though men care most for jewels, they lack the taste that women have. That is why for so long so much value has been attached to diamonds—the most impersonal of all jewels. Men have valued them because they represent so many dollar bills."

'Twas Money Counted.
"Formerly men gave women jewels and these were prized for their actual value. Precious stones were supposed to be becoming to everyone. Today women are more discriminating. They want color and form."

"Jade really was what opened the eyes of most women to the beauty of semi-precious stones. Today they are becoming sensitive to the decorative value of crystals, lapis, coral, opals and other colorful stones by which a woman may bring out her own coloring, and have her jewelry as distinctly of her style as her fashion of wearing her hair."

"The museums are being searched for oriental designs and antique subtleties. Women are getting down to art in fundamentals. We never can go back to an era of Quaker plainness again. Instead we will go further in gorgeous costumes and in facial makeup than ever before. But we will do so with much greater intelligence, and with much more telling effect."

AGED SUFFRAGE WORKER ESCAPED INJURY IN JAPANESE EARTHQUAKE

Tokio, Dec. 5.—One of those who escaped bodily harm in the Japanese earthquake and fire was Madame Kajiko Yajima, the 90-year old suffrage advocate and president of the Japanese Christian Women's Temperance Society.

Mme. Yajima represented Japan at the international conference of Women's Temperance Societies in the United States in 1906.

GIRLS FLOCK TO MOVIELAND BUT FEW CAN FIND PLACES

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 5.—Scores of young girls, movie-struck, arrive here every week, most of them with no recommendations beyond flattering notices in home-town papers, according to the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, which has started a campaign to warn young persons throughout the country of the futility of finding screen jobs, unless they are qualified and have been encouraged to apply at the studios.

The Chamber of Commerce estimates the population of Hollywood at 85,000, of whom, it states, less than 15,000 are engaged in the film industry.

The girls who drop in from the ends of the earth all are willing to become stars, but most of them are unable to find even minor parts. With their funds exhausted, many of them turn out to be a problem for social and civic workers.

Berlin, Dec. 5.—German parents complain bitterly that their children flock evenings to the movie houses and stay up late to watch blood-curdling dramas. The laws against young children being abroad at night alone apparently are not enforced.

Schenectady, Dec. 5.—Power from mercury vapor, making possible a double vapor power plant in which turbines for generating electricity are driven both by mercury vapor and water vapor from the same fuel source, resulting in a gain of about 50 per cent in power per pound of fuel, is the outstanding achievement of a new boiler perfected by the General Electric Company.

The last great step in improving the efficiency of manufacturing power was the replacement of the reciprocating engine by the steam turbine. The invention of the mercury vapor boiler is regarded as a greater step in the progress of science.

FARMERS WHO DIVERSIFY GET PREFERENCE

Board of University and School Lands Not to Foreclose in Such Cases

Preference will be given by the State Board of University and School Lands in making farm loans and on farm contracts to farmers who diversify, it was decided by the board in a lengthy meeting here today.

The board adopted a resolution to the effect that after January persons making application for farm loans who are diversifying will be given preference. It also was decided that there will be no foreclosures made for delinquencies on farm loans or land bought on contract if the farmers are raising their own garden, keeping chickens and making an effort to diversify. It was the attitude of the board, according to Land Commissioner Kositzky, that every encouragement should be given to farmers to keep their land and to make up their delinquencies.

The board authorized appraisement of several pieces of school land near New Salem, the appraisal to be made on request of H. Wolfe of Des Plaines, Illinois, who has a number of Illinois farmers desiring to buy such land.

The report of the land commissioner was accepted and 7,000 copies ordered printed.

CHEERY FACE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS MAKES ITS FIRST APPEARANCE DEC. 8

Fifty Per Cent of Funds Obtained Will Be Used in Purchasing Milk For Needy Children in Schools

The cheery face of the Christmas seal which made its appearance Dec. 1 over the entire country will make its first appearance in Bismarck Saturday, Dec. 8.

From the sale of these little flappers of the happy holiday season the Anti-Tuberculosis association hopes to be able to supply a lot of kiddies in the city with milk in the schools as they did last year. School children will have charge of the sale in the residential districts and the Woman's Community Council will have charge of the sales in the business district, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Barnes.

The seals cost just a penny. Last year 800,000 people in the United States bought seals and the people of Bismarck purchased so many that by using 50 per cent of the money they raised here 15,000 half pints of milk were purchased and many children cared for.

The children fed in this way have improved both in health and their school work shows an improvement, according to the reports of the teachers and school nurses. The undernourished and underweight child is not only an easy victim for tuberculosis but for every disease. Keeping the child up to normal is a part of the general public health program for prevention of disease and the spread of epidemics.

The seals will be on sale from Saturday, Dec. 8 until Christmas day, and those wishing extra seals may secure them either at the Tuberculosis office or by calling Mrs. Barnes.
